The President Comes Home

WASHINGTON, D.C.: In the press cars moving from the White House to the Andrews Airbase where the President's aircraft would land, men recalled with wry humor that it was but a brief eight months ago that we moved out to that same place to see Mr. Eisenhower welcome Nikita Khrushchev on a red carpet with the notables of the world's embassies applauding.

"A lot has happened," mused one correspondent. "A lot more is going to happen," said another.

And this was the mood.

There is the feeling that great forces are loosed; that the riderless brazen-hoofed horses of the apocalypse are rushing across the skies, that momentous events impend. But this is because there is in the present time the great mystery of what goes on in the Soviet Union and how deep is the shift in policy.

France has already said she will take a more independent role in the future. The alliance is badly shaken, even though it does not appear so on the surface. Just how much of a new policy Gen. de Gaulle plans will be told the nation next week. There is no anger in it for the United States or the President. But there is bewilderment. None of the allies, the small nations or the large, knew of the May 1 U2 flight. They admired the dignity and restraint of the President while privately deploring what seemed to them examples of very bad judgment by the largest of the Western nations.

Responsibility

It is reported the President is aware of this and feels very keenly the responsibility for the errors made. The alliance is more important than ever before. There are reports that the British feel it will be more bad judgment for the President to go to Japan and Korea, as planned. Japan already is the site of Communist demonstrations against the United States. But here in Washington the present feeling is that he must go because not to do so would be a loss of face and would do harm to the Japanese government.

It is strongly believed here that the Red Chinese had protested strongly about what seemed to them an equating of Mr. Eisenhower as a man of peace along with Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung. Certainly the attack on the President is a savage one and has its greatest momentum in China.

Great Changes

The past eight months have wrought great changes. And whether they began with the U2 incident, or before, none may say. But they are here and they are by no means at an end. The somewhat wan face and the weary smile of the returning President, buffeted by fate and error and burdened by the collapse of much of his dream, reports the fact he, too, knows there are heavy tests ahead.

It is a great and terrible thing to hold so much responsibility. That the President feels this was obvious from his appearance and demeanor. He spoke quietly to the long, bipartisan line of congressmen, senators, diplomats, chiefs of staff and friends. Included among them was his pastor, Edward L. R. Elston.

Before the microphones, President Eisenhower was serious, selecting his words with great care. His eyes looked tired and he spoke of having been up since 1:00 a.m. Washington time. "Khrushchev's decision remains a mystery," he said, "and the future will be filled with trouble."

Thousands turned out all along the way in a strong show of loyalty and affection. It was almost as if he had come back from a great victory.

But once the White House was reached, Gen. Jerry Persons hurried U.N. Ambassador Lodge in to see the weary President. There must be immediate decision on the strategy of meeting the Russian charge before the Security Council Monday. Will Lodge handle it, or will Secretary Herter?

As the President said, we face a future of trial and irritations. For him they were beginning as soon as he had put down his hat.

Mighty Atlas Thunders A Record 9,000 Miles

By ALVIN B. WEBB Jr.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—The U.S. scored a new missile triumph Friday with a record 9,000 mile Atlas ICBM shot that hurled a dummy warhead around a third of the earth's circumference.

The mighty shot streaked length wise across the Atlantic, past the hump of Brazil and the Cape of Good Hope at the tip of Africa, into a target area off a tiny isle in the Indian Ocean north of the Antarctic Circle.

It gave added weight to Air Force claims that it can send a nuclear-tipped Atlas, the nation's most powerful war ready rocket, around the globe if necessary.

At the same time, the U.S. announced quietly that it will launch "spy-in-the-sky" satellites soon.

The Atlas success Friday cleared a major barrier to planned launchings of America's top-secret Midas and Samos satellites-so-called "spies-in-the-sky" that could photograph any military installation on earth from orbits several hundred miles high.

The Atlas, fired exactly on time at 11 a.m. e.d.t., took 52

Burge Arrested In Killing of Wife

Constitution State News Service

MACON —Chester A. Burge, wealthy Bibb County real estate agent, was arrested here early Friday night on an open charge in connection with the strangling of his wife last week.

Macon Detective Chief W. H. Bargeron said Burge was questioned at length for four hours Friday afternoon after being released from the Macon Hospital, where he has been confined since May 10 following a hernia operation.

Detective Chief Bargeron said Burge was then booked on an open charge and placed in jail.

The detective chief declined to comment further on developments in the slaying case.

Burge's wife, Mary, 55, was found strangled on Thursday of last week at the luxurious Burge

3 Columbus Firefighters Hurt in $125,000 Blaze

Constitution State News Service

COLUMBUS—Three firemen were injured Friday night as towering flames sped through a bloc-long lumber yard near downtown Columbus.

The fire at the W. T. Harvey Lumber Co. destroyed piles of stored lumber, a big timber shed and the firm's office building. Damage was estimated at more than $125,000.

A number of nearby buildings were endangered before the blaze was brought under control after two hours of furious fighting.

The sky over the city was blackened by thick smoke. Flames could be seen for miles.

C. A. Dorrough, the most seriously injured fireman, was overcome by smoke and heat and was under emergency treatment at a hospital here. His condition was not immediately known.

Robert Ledford was injured when he was struck in the neck with a hose nozzle and C. T. Patrick received second degree burns on the hands and neck. Both men were discharged from the hospital.

Fire officials said the blaze was controlled Friday night but stack after stack of lumber still smouldered.

Quarry Trusty Flees in Truck

A trusty at the Rock Quarry Prison for Incorrigibles at Buford Friday tied up a prison mechanic and escaped in a prison truck, Warden Smith said.

Smith identified the prisoner as James Gardner, 46, serving a burgliary sentence from Banks County. Gardner had been sent with a mechanic, B. J. Brown, to Buford to pick up parts for a truck, Smith said.

State Unions Veto New Party, Hit Vote Registration Cutoff

Delegates to the Georgia AFL-CIO convention Friday rapped the six-month cutoff of voter registration and urged that registration books be kept open until 15 days before an election.

The delegates asked in another resolution that the state, county and city governments in Georgia adopt what is now "standard requirements" in most states that governmental employes work an eight-hour day with premium pay for Saturday and Sundays.

The delegates also voted to keep an eye on the voting record of state senators and representatives, as do "the enemies of organized labor," and spread the information around all unions.

Beaten overwhelmingly Friday was a resolution calling for a third political party.

The resolution, entered by delegate F. H. King of Machinists Local 2, said the strong bipartisan support of the Kennedy-Landrum bill "demonstrates conclusively that both the Democratic and the Republican Party are the captives of big American business interests . . ."

Earlier, Georgia Supreme Court Justice Joseph D. Quillian told the group that labor and the bar association share a peculiar inability to get the Georgia Legislature to pass special laws.

Justice Quillian said the legislators are leery of any bill that resembles "class" legislation and don't support legislation that is approved by the bar or labor.

He also told the delegates that legislation "favorable" to labor is a misnomer. The correct term in reference to labor should be "just legislation" which secures equal and fair treatment for the labor minority, he said.

The delegates reelected all executive officers, including W. H. Montague Sr., president; R. B. Randall, executive vice president;

Puts Off Showdown 6 Months

BERLIN (UPI) — Nikita S. Khrushchev Friday announced he would keep hands off West Berlin until the issue can be discussed at a summit conference to take place in six or eight months —after President Eisenhower is out of office.

His announcement gave the world a breathing spell in the suddenly resumed cold war but he coupled it with a fresh insult to Eisenhower and accused the American President of "perfidy."

A HATE RALLY

Glowering and frowning through a "hate America" rally staged for 8,000 Communist functionaries in an East Berlin hall, the Soviet premier attacked by name Eisenhower, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Central Intelligence Agency Chief Allen Dulles, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, whom he called a "loud mouth."

Khrushchev admitted only that "President Eisenhower has a tougher problem than do I" in formulating policy.

"In the Soviet Union," Khrushchev said, "we are completely united on domestic and international policies."

AWAITS NEW SUMMIT

But Khrushchev, whose words since his arrival in East Berlin have not equaled in ferocity the vitriolic language he used to wreck the summit parley in Paris, stressed that he would hold off acting on Berlin until there is a meeting again with the West.

He said again that the Communist states have every right to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany now, thereby void-

Jekyll Board Cool to Cook Closing Plan

By GENE BRITTON

Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook Friday proposed closing down the Jekyll Island resort, if necessary, to prevent its integration, but other members of the Jekyll Island Authority declined their support.

Asked about announced plans by the NAACP to integrate public beaches along the southern coast line of the Atlantic Ocean, Cook told reporters that, as one member of the Jekyll Authority, he would "stand firm to close the entire island and all its facilities."

Later, declaring he did not want to alarm the resort's private investors, he issued a prepared statement saying he hoped the governor would declare martial law on the island if integration were attempted. "Otherwise, I would be firmly in favor of closing the public facilities," the statement added.

Secretary of State Ben Fortson Jr., chairman of the Jekyll Authority, would not comment for the record on Cook's idea.

He said the question of integration on Jekyll hasn't come up,

'Boom' Shakes Atlanta Area

A plane breaking the sound barrier — or something — made a big "boom" about 6:30 p.m. Friday that was heard and felt in an area generally bounded by North DeKalb County, Griffin and Newnan.

Scores of persons reported hearing the blast and some said it shook their homes. Police and Air Force officers could only speculate on what caused the noise—and speculation ran heavily to a sonic boom.

Gromyko in N.Y. to Go Before U.N., Warns Crisis Can Become Worse

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said Friday night the international situation can become "even more aggravated" unless the United States stops its "aggressive acts."

Sober-faced and grim, the Soviet diplomat talked to newsmen after flying in from Paris to press Soviet spy plane charges against the United States before the United Nations Security Council.

Gromyko said it is "incumbent upon the United Nations and above all on the U.N. Security Council, the agency whose major duty is the maintenance of peace, to devote serious attention to this matter and to take the necessary measures to end the policy of provocations and aggression."

U.S. Plane Down In Red Germany

By ARTHUR J. OLSEN

(Copyright 1960 by the New York Times Co.)

BONN—A U.S. military transport aircraft lost on a flight from Copenhagen to Hamburg has made a forced landing in the Soviet zone of Germany, the East German radio announced Friday night. The pilot of a C47 transport carrying Air Force personnel home to Wheelus Air Force Base in Libya from leave in Northern Europe apparently lost his bearing in stormy weather across the Baltic Sea.

It was not clear whether the two-engined aircraft was forced down or made an emergency landing of its own accord near the Baltic coast. The East German announcement said the plane came down at Brunshagen, a coastal town 20 miles from the West German city of Luebeck. The zonal border runs just east of the Luebeck city limits.

The radio report said eight occupants of the plane, including a woman, were turned over to the nearest Soviet authorities. None of the passengers or crew was injured, the announcement said.

A hotel keeper at Grevensmuehlen, a town near Brunshagen, said the plane landed undamaged in a meadow. He said the American occupants were housed under arrest in Grevensmuehlen Friday night.

An Air Force spokesman said Soviet authorities would be approached Saturday at the Berlin Air Safety Center in a first step toward obtaining their release. In previous cases of a U.S. aircraft landing inadvertently in the Soviet zone, Soviet authorities have sought to force the United

Acclaimed Despite Failure

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower, who as war hero and President is used to tumultuous tributes, came home Friday from the failure at the summit to receive one of the warmest welcomes of his life.

More than 2,000 persons, including Vice President Richard M. Nixon and leaders of both political parties, were at the airport to greet him.

Thousands were scattered along the 15-mile drive into the city.

Downtown, where government workers and school children were let out for the occasion, the scene at times looked like a presidential inauguration.

HAILED BY 200,000

Police Chief Robert Murray said Eisenhower was greeted by well over 200,000 persons.

Standing bareheaded in the sun, the President said simply: "It truly means a lot to me."

Those who were close to him reported that at times Eisenhower seemed to be blinking back tears.

Certainly there were sober moments.

In his brief speech at the airport, Eisenhower said that only 30 minutes earlier he had learned that a slow, unarmed C47, with no military significance, was missing in Europe.

MAY HAVE STRAYED

Because of bad weather, Eisenhower said, it may have strayed over the border into Communist East Germany.

"We can't be sure," Eisenhower said, "the worst has not happened."

Nearly two hours later came word from East German police that the plane had landed there,

GOP's Peace Image Died In Paris, Smathers Says

The U2 incident and collapse of the Paris peace talks have destroyed the Republican image as the party of peace, Florida Sen. Smathers declared here Friday.

The U2 episode itself should not be a matter of partisan debate, he asserted, but "the whole tenor of this administration's foreign policy . . . is a legitimate area to criticize."

Recent events "certainly have improved the chances of the Democrats (to win the presidency), which were good already," he said.

Smathers, here to address the Atlanta Bar Assn. meeting, nonetheless called for unity behind the President now.

"The country's interests are above personal or party interests," he declared.

"American people are in for a long, hard pull," Smathers warned. He said the U2 incident could cost the United States its bases in nations surrounding the Soviet Union.

The timing of the U2 flight and the subsequent handling of the incident by U.S. officials were "major blunders," he said.

The United States must "exert

Smathers May Join Swing to Talmadge

By BRUCE GALPHIN

Georgia's Democratic Party chairman will confer this weekend with Florida's favorite son about possible support of Sen. Talmadge as a Southwide presidential candidate.

Chairman James H. Gray said he will meet with Sen. Smathers of Florida at Sea Island.

And Southern unity strategy will be the main topic of discussion, he added.

Smathers, in an interview at the Atlanta airport, was noncommittal about the meeting.

But Gray revealed he was going full steam ahead with unity plans and will meet with party leaders of each Southern state before the Los Angeles convention.

The next conference probably will be with Mississippi leaders, he said. No date has been set.

The Georgia chairman said the proposal to back Talmadge has "been getting some pretty good reaction."

Smathers, Gray declared, "has been a pretty good states righter. . . . I think Florida would fit into our group."

The Florida delegation, with 29 votes, is committed to Smathers for at least the first ballot.

Smathers himself declined to name his personal choice. He has 221 Housing: What Is It?

What is urban renewal's 221 housing like? Why is there a fight about it? How does Atlanta compare with other cities in such housing? Ted Lippman, Constitution staff writer, supplies the answers.

Red World Whips Up 'Hate America' Drive

LONDON (UPI) — A "hate America" propaganda campaign raged through the Communist world Friday, spurred on by the collapse of the summit conference and Soviet Premier Khrushchev's accusations against the United States.

Communist agitators whipped up mass demonstrations while government-controlled press and radio spewed out denunciations full blast. The Russians canceled a scheduled visit to Moscow by a U.S. Air Force band.

The theme was the same everywhere—in Moscow, Peiping, East Berlin and elsewhere — President Eisenhower wrecked the summit meeting with his spy planes.

While Eisenhower was the main target, Vice President Nixon and American military circles and "imperialists" also were subjected to vitriolic attacks.

The Chinese Communist radio said that more than three million Chinese turned out in Peiping alone Friday to hear Premier Chou En-lai, Soviet Ambassador S. V. Chervonenko, and other Red leaders denounce the United States and Eisenhower for "sabotaging" the summit meeting in Paris.

Peiping radio said it was the biggest anti-American rally in China's history. It said thousands of armed militia men and women in huge Tienanmen (gate of heavenly peace) Square raised rifles with fixed bayonets and "shouted approval" of the denunciations.

Eisenhower was named an "arch-warmonger" and a "vicious enemy of world peace" by Chinese speakers while the Soviet ambassador bragged of Russia's military prowess "to punish any aggressor."

From Moscow, UPI bureau manager Henry Shapiro reported that the collapse of the summit had been drummed up into "one of the biggest Soviet propaganda campaigns against the United States in years." He said Americans living in the Russian capital already could feel the renewed chill winds of the cold war. The Soviet press reported meetings and rallies by workers, intellectuals and others in a number of cities, including Leningrad, and Tbilisi as well as Moscow.

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda and the government publication Izvestia carried articles and letters from the public denouncing the "aggressive" and "provocative" actions of the United States.

Pravda also carried an article by two Soviet officers saying U. S. intelligence had developed a small "one-man" atom bomb for sabotage purposes. The article was based on "foreign press reports." It also charged that American planes had violated Soviet air space 113 times between 1953 and 1956 while American intelligence sent "thousands" of balloons carrying espionage equipment over Russian territory.

Kremlin Admits Spaceship Setback

MOSCOW (AP) — Something went wrong with the guidance system of the Soviet Union's experimental spaceship and it went into a larger orbit during an attempt to change its course downward by remote control, the Soviet news agency Tass reported Friday.

The pressurized astronaut cabin was separated from the mother ship as ordered and the two now are cruising along around the earth, but not in the planned path, Tass said.

The statement explained the mysterious shift in the space ship's orbit noted Thursday.

When the 4½-ton Sputnik was fired into orbit Sunday, the Soviets announced there would be no attempt to recover the cabin and the dummy astronaut—the Soviets insisted he was only a model—inside.

It was supposed to be directed back to earth and burn up in the atmosphere as previous Sputniks have done.

"On May 19 an order was sent to the ship to switch on its braking device in order to deflect the ship down from its orbit and detach the pressurized cabin," Tass said Friday.

"However, as a result of a fault which had developed by that time in one of the instruments in the space ship's orientation system, the direction of the retrorocket's blast deviated from that planned.

"As a result, the speed of the space ship, instead of being reduced, increased slightly and the ship slipped into a new elliptical orbit, lying almost in the same plane but having a much higher apogee."

The apogee is the orbit's maximum distance from the earth.

The old orbit was 188½ miles at its closet point to the earth and 225 miles at its farthest. The carrier rocket is still in that path.

Turks Turn Tear Gas on 10,000

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — Troops and police used tear gas bombs Friday against about 10,000 anti-government demonstrators who disrupted Premier Adnan Menderes' welcoming ceremonies for Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

Police reported that 15 persons were injured, none seriously, while 20 persons were detained, including several women.

The disorders erupted as the automobile carrying Menderes and Nehru approached a midtown square where an estimated 30,000 persons waited, most of them brought in by the government to welcome Nhru on an official four-day visit.

$58 Million for Atom Plane Voted, 19-18, by House Panel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee, climaxing a hot argument, voted 19 - to - 18 Friday to provide an extra 58 million dollars next year to push development of an atomic plane because of the summit collapse.

Overturning a subcommittee recommendation, the move was the first congressional action toward increasing defense efforts since Soviet Premier Khrushchev got tough over the spy plane incident and wrecked the summit meeting.

The fight was staged in a closed session as the committee approved a $3,914,798,965 money bill to finance the Atomic Energy Commission and cover costs of public works spending in the 12 months starting July 1. This was $84,217,195 below President Eisenhower's request.

The subcommittee had cut out Eisenhower's request for 73 million dollars to continue work on the atomic plane. A motion by Rep. Gerald R. Ford (R-Mich.) to restore the funds was approved after a long, loud argument.

The committee later affirmed the 73-million dollar addition but voted to limit actual spending in the new year to 58-million. Proponents of the atomic plane argued that Khrushchev's new policy showed this was not the time to relax defense efforts.

Ford said the funds were necessary because of the darkening international picture and the possible psychological effect of dropping the project. He was supported by Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Texas), chairman of an appropriations subcommittee handling defense money.

In knocking out the funds earlier, the subcommittee said one billion dollars already had been spent on the nuclear powered plane and there was no prospect it could be put in the air any time soon. It said another billion would be needed to complete it.

In addition, it was pointed out that the Defense Department recently dropped plans to develop the plane as a flying missile launcher.

Italians Cancel Trip to Moscow

ROME (AP)—Six members of an Italian parliamentary delegation, including its Christian Democrat leader, decided Friday to call off a trip to Moscow because of the current international situation. Five other members of the group—three Communists and two left-wing Socialist deputies—expressed regret at the decision and said they would decide upon their own action later. The group was to have been guests of Soviet lawmakers.

PICKRICK SAYS

I missed out on the parade in downtown Atlanta (Tuesday), that was to celebrate the U.S. Supreme Court desegregation (Black Monday) ruling of May 17, 1954. I had intended on trying to lead the parade and if given the opportunity, my plans were to lead the march to City Hall rather than to the State Capitol. But I guess that is one of the penalties of being a country boy and out of the downtown section. I miss all of the parades.

BUT DON'T YOU MISS

visiting the Pickrick for wonderful food served at prices so reasonable you can't afford to eat at home.

SPECIAL TONIGHT

ORDER OF PICKRICK SKILLET-FRIED CHICKEN 25c

Drumstick and thigh, right from the skillet and so delicious you can hardly stand it. (Served in our cafeteria department only.)

AND I THINK

that those who encourage racial tension by wanting to show the publicity seeking marchers our State Museum, would be an attraction to the museum themselves, stuffed that is.

WITH OUR

City Administration encouraging, rather than resisting sit-ins, parades, ads advocating the breaking of the civil laws, etc., we are very fortunate indeed not to have already had serious racial violence. I believe the folks in Atlanta are going to have to change horses at City Hall.

THEN, TOO

what happened to all the big black front page headlines about vice in Athens, Ga.? Did little stories about similar and possibly larger vice operating in Atlanta put the damper on such news—lest it may develop that vice in Athens is nothing compared to vice in Atlanta? But I was glad to see an Atlanta official suggest new ordinances that would help curb vice in Atlanta, yet disappointed when another resisted such bills with an explanation that Atlanta would get bad publicity from such bills. Is this to mean that it is wrong to talk about or resist vice in Atlanta?

AND THE SUMMIT

(According to Khrushchev)

Just before starting The Summit
And my plans were to be sure and run it,
You sent me Powers
When it should have been flowers,
Which gave me an excuse to shun it.

Looks like that guy is determined to shut off and segregate West Berlin, and I'm wondering if the U. S. is as far behind as we hear, or is the wool being pulled over our eyes? Maybe Khrushchev, too?

Kennedy Zips Ahead Of Morse

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts stepped out Friday night to a lead of more than 2½ to 1 over Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon in incomplete, unofficial returns from six precincts out of a total of 2,882 in Oregon's Democratic presidential primary.

It was 184 votes for Kennedy and 86 for Morse in these returns from two counties, both normally Republican.

Other Democratic presidential possibilities tagged behind the front-running Kennedy and the home state senator trying to get a favorite son nod. In Kennedy, Morse was up against the winner of six straight primaries.

In the Republican column, Vice President Richard M. Nixon was unopposed. But Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York immediately began getting a sprinkling of write-ins. So did Allai E. Stevenson on the Democratic Ballot.

Five of the first six precincts, of a total of 2,883 in the state, are in Washington County, a rural, Republican area near Portland in the northwestern corner of the state.

The other precinct, the first in the state to count, was in Malheur County in farm and food processing territory along the Idaho border to the east. Ordinarily it is Republican, too.

Col. Springs Left Estate of $25,758,766

YORK, S.C., (AP)—The late Col. Elliot White Springs, colorful World War I flying ace and head of the Spring Cotton Mills, left an estate valued at $25,758,760.60.

Springs' will, filed for probate here Friday, left half of the estate for charitable purposes in the four South Carolina communities where Springs Mills operate and the other half to his widow, Frances Lay Springs, and to his seven young grandchildren.

Suzanne, 16, Manages Brave Smile After Losing Leg in Shark's Attack

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP)—A 16-year-old girl managed a brave smile Friday and asked for her pink dance formal—after being told a shark had cost her her left leg.

Suzanne Marie Theriot, strengthened by 17 blood transfusions, was recovering from the ordeal of being horribly slashed by the teeth of a shark during a high school swimming outing in the ocean Thursday. The leg had to be amputated just above the knee.

Mrs. Fred Theriot sent a dressmaker a rush order to complete the formal and take it to her daughter as a morale booster.

The girl seemed to regret most that she will miss the high school prom Saturday night.

"She was simply wonderful," her mother said. "She cried a little bit, more about not going to the dance than anything else, I think.

"But she's reconciled now. She's a very well-adjusted girl."

Powers' Father Writes Appeal to Khrushchev

NORTON, Va. (UPI)—The father of American pilot Francis G. Powers said Friday he has written a personal letter to Soviet Premier Khrushchev pleading for his son's release.

Powers, who operates a shoe repair shop, said he air mailed the letter asking Khrushchev to free his son, held since his U2 jet plane was shot down over Russia May 1.

Powers disclosed his letter said:

"I extend to you and Mrs. Khrushchev my plea as one parent to another. Pilot Francis Powers is my only son. I am asking you to be lenient with him in your dealings with him. He has always been a fine young man and we love him very much. As one father to another I plead with you to let him come home as soon as you can find it in your heart to do so that he may be with us a while longer. Please give him this note from his mother enclosed in this letter."

The elder Powers said the note from the pilot's mother was of a "personal" nature. He added a P.S.: "I would appreciate it very much if you would reply as soon as possible."

38 in House Ask Ike to Explain His About-Faces

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Thirty-eight House Democrats asked President Eisenhower Friday to explain what they called "contradictory and false statements" and shifts in U.S. policy preceding collapse of the summit conference.

They made the request in a letter dispatched to the White House by special messenger shortly after the President returned by plane from the ill-fated conference.

Their action flew in the face of Democratic congressional leaders who had pleaded for unity behind the President.

Upper House Okays Record Bonn Budget

BONN, Germany (AP) — The West German Parliament's upper house gave final approval Friday to a record budget of 41,900,000,000 marks—$9,972,000,000.

Rescue Plane Crashes on Mt. McKinley

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A light plane on a mercy flight to aid four injured climbers high on the icy flanks of Mt. McKinley crashed and burned late Friday. The lone occupant apparently escaped unscathed.

The Federal Aviation Agency at Anchorage said the Cessna 180 plummeted into the mountain at about the 18,000-foot level.

The FAA identified the pilot as William Stevenson, Anchorage. Stevenson, the FAA said, was spotted sitting in the snow beside his smashed, burned plane, apparently unharmed.

Four injured men still are stranded on the mountain, North America's loftiest peak. They were disabled in a fall late Tuesday.

Earlier Friday, Alaska bush pilot Don Sheldon of Talkeetna made a daring landing of his small plane on the mountain and picked up Helga Bading, an Anchorage climber who became seriously ill while climbing on McKinley, 150 miles north of Anchorage.

Mrs. Bading was whisked to Talkeetna and thence to Anchorage, where she was immediately taken to an Air Force hospital. Attendants said the woman was conscious when taken into the hospital and appeared to be smiling.

Her face was raw from sunburn and windburn. She did not appear to be in critical condition, attendants said. She became ill from a climbing malady called mountain sickness, caused from lack of oxygen.

Ground parties, spurred by a radioed plea that "we are getting desperate," inched their way up Mt. McKinley's treacherous sides in an effort to reach the four. Their condition was described as critical.

The rescue parties, composed mostly of trained mountaineers flown from the Seattle area, were not expected to reach the injured, huddled more than 17,000 feet up the mountain, until Saturday at the earliest.

Four helicopter attempts to reach the men failed. The Air Force was ordered to rush two climber, who became seriously ill while scaling McKinley.

Four Pacific Northwest climbers who were seriously injured in a fall high up on the mountain Tuesday were still to be rescued.

Don Sheldon of Talkeetna was piloting the small craft which special high-altitude helicopters here from Stead Air Force Base in Nevada, but they were not due until Saturday.

Mrs. Bading, member of a separate climbing party, had lain for two days at the 15,000-foot level.

Rome Man Gets Ill During Lie Test

Constitution State News Service

ROME—A young Rome man who last week said five Negroes attacked him and set his hair on fire became "violently ill" at the beginning of a lie-detector test, officers said Friday.

"He was sick, very sick," Sheriff Joe Adams said.

Only a few routine questions had been asked the man, 26-year-old Dewey Neighbors, when he complained of sickness and the test had to be discontinued, the officer reported. Adams said that Neighbors will be asked to take the test at a later date.

SET CAR AFIRE

Police have been working on the case "around-the-clock," Adams said, since Neighbors reported the attack to police last Saturday. He told officers that five Negro men in a black, late model Cadillac waylaid him, bound his hands and feet with wire, set his hair on fire and then doused his car with gasoline and set it on fire.

Neighbors' cries for help aroused nearby residents who released him. His hair was singed and his car severely burned.

10-Story Balloon Loosed at Brunswick

BRUNSWICK — A 10-story-high plastic balloon was launched at 8 a.m. Friday from the Glynco Naval Air Station to test stratospheric winds. At noon, the balloon was 112,000 feet in the sky and over the Dublin area. It was expected to land somewhere in the Valdosta area.

6 House Candidates Enter in District 10

WASHINGTON, Ga.—The 10th Congressional District race drew its third candidate in two days Friday with the entry of Asa M. Bennett of Washington. Two previously announced candidates qualified Thursday: Hugh Eugene Tudor of Augusta and McDuffie County Court Clerk Allen Pannell. Three others are in the race, making a total of six. They are Robert Stephens, Athens attorney; and two Augustans, Attorney R. H. Jones and City Councilman Willis Irvin.

$6,400 Life Savings Found --In Closets, Pipes, Walls

Constitution State News Service

RENTZ—The mysterious disappearance of $6,400—the life savings of D. R. Currie of Rentz—has been solved.

Sheriff Carlus Gay said Friday he found the money "and more" in a most unlikely place after a 10-day search.

"It was in his home," the sheriff said.

Cash, piles of it, was found under rugs, behind walls, in closets, in pipes and $3,300 in the family car. It seems Currie's wife, afraid that all the money would be stolen if hidden in one place, stashed the cash in different parts of the house and car and neglected to tell her husband, Gay said.

Currie, who apparently didn't want to worry his wife, reported the loss of the money to police when it disappeared from its accustomed place.

When all of the money had been collected, the total was $200 more than Currie had hidden.

William F. Halsey.

State Gets Million in Farm Bill

Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The Senate Appropriations Committee has approved more than a million dollars for poultry studies and additional funds for a wide range of agricultural research in Georgia.

Sen. Russell, a member of the appropriations committee, got the Georgia projects included in the agriculture money bill for fiscal 1961.

The largest Georgia item is $950,000 for a poultry research laboratory in Athens to serve the Southeastern poultry industry. The bill also includes $75,000 to begin immediate federal-state cooperative studies of poultry diseases.

SUM RESTORED

In this connection, the committee restored the full $10,296,000 for poultry inspection which had been left out of the House version of the bill.

The Senate panel also voted an increase of $545,000 over the House bill on the program to eradicate the boll weevil.

This would permit the staffing of a new boll weevil laboratory in Mississippi.

Georgia funds okayed by the committee include $75,000 to expand vegetable production research at Tifton, and another $25,000 for a study of marketing problems of south Georgia vegetable producers.

PECAN RESEARCH

An additional $25,000 for pecan research in Albany was approved by the committee.

An increase of $120,000 was approved for the soil and water research station at Watkinsville, which was voted $366,800 for operation. The committee voted $35,000 to continue a soil and water field station at Fleming in Liberty County.

The $4 billion appropriations bill also provides for a continuation of other Georgia programs, including $100,000 for the research on coastal bermuda pellets at Tifton, $10,000 for research on shade tobacco in Florida and southwest Georgia; $25,000 for apple breeding research at Blairsville.

Car Dives 49 Feet; 4 Spared

Lands Upside Down In Creek Here

Four teen-agers narrowly escaped serious injury late Friday when the car they occupied plunged over a 49-foot embankment and landed upside down in a shallow creek, police said.

The wreck occurred on a traffic circle at the dead end of Flamingo drive, SW. Patrolman J. R. Collins said the driver, Charles Robert Bissell, 16, of 549 Atwood St., SW, told him brake failure caused the crash.

Bissell was treated at Grady for injuries to the head and shoulders, Collins said. He said Alberta Laura Bottoms, 14, of 336 Atwood St., SW, suffered a possible broken leg, and Rita George, 14, of 378 Enota Pl., SW, had severe cuts and bruises.

Collins said a fourth occupant, Kenny Shore, 15, of 382 Peeples St., SW, apparently was not injured.

The car traveled approximately 40 feet after plunging over the embankment and landed upside down in a creek that contained a foot of water.

Collins said residents of the aread heard the crash and helped the injured from the car before he arrived.

Psychiatrists Tell Value Of Drugs

Fifty psychiatrists from five southern states met in Atlanta Friday and voiced approval of new drugs which have made a breakthrough in treating many heretofore "unreachable" schizophrenics.

The meeting, held at the Heart of Atlanta Motel, was the first of its kind in the South, said Dr. Irville H. McKinnon, superintendent of Milledgeville State Hospital, the program host.

Dr. McKinnon said that the meeting was the forerunner of meetings which will benefit Southern states through pooling of information.

Doctors at this meeting discussed and evaluated the results of tranquilizers which have been on the market six or eight months, Dr. MacKinnon said. One of the drugs mentioned as particularly effective in treating "disintegrated" personalities was Stelazine.

"It seems to be most effective in the most severe types of psychosis and has produced startling results in many hospitals in the five states (Florida, Georgia and Arkansas)," Dr. MacKinnon said. "Many of the patients treated were returned home. We don't know if their cures are permanent."

Dr. MacKinnon said the new drugs are no "cure-all." But they have reached persons unreached by any other type theraphy—such as shock treatment and insulin, he said. They have served to quiet patients and do away with much disturbance usually found around mental institutions, MacKinnon said.

Keep Schools Open STAR Students Urge

Gov. Vandiver has responded with thanks to a letter from a group of STAR students who wrote urging him to see that public school education in the state is not interrupted.

The letter was signed by 22 of the STAR students who won the star rating through scholarship tests.

The students' letter told the governor that closing the public schools would not only retard but actually reverse the economic, sociological and moral progress of Georgia.

"It seems ridiculous to deprive everyone of a public education system in order to exclude anyone from parts of that system," they said.

Mays Raps Review of College Tax

Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College charged state officials Friday with trying to curry public favor by checking up on tax exemptions for Negro schools whose students took part in an pro-integragation march this week.

Gov. Vandiver has appointed an assistant to look into the tax-exemption question. Private colleges, under present Georgia statutes, are exempt from property taxes.

"It looks to me," Dr. Mays said, "like an attempt on the part of the governor and the state auditor to divert attention from the fact that about $70,000 of the taxpayers' money, according to the auditor's estimate, was squandered for nothing."

Dr. Mays said, "you do not take from an institution its tax-exempt status because its students, in a dignified way, without violence, express their portest—it is an American right."

"They can't set aside what is inherently given in the federal Constitution," he said, "They wouldn't stand a ghost of a chance in the federal courts and they know it."

VD in State Drops 21 Pct. in 9 Months

A 21 per cent decrease in venereal disease cases in Georgia during the first nine months of fiscal 1960 was reported Friday—in sharp contrast to what the American Sociay Health Assn. called "an alarming rise" in VD in many parts of the nation.

The Georgia Health Department's veneral disease control section said a total of 10,262 syphilis and gonorrhea cases was reported in the state from July 1959 to last March. In a comparable period of the preceding fiscal year, 13,042 cases were reported.

The American Health Assn. said Friday the number of early infectious syphillis cases in the nation rose 46 per cent during the first nine months fo fiscal 1960, reaching all the way down below teen-agers.

Twenty-eight states reported VD increases. But in Georgia, syphilis decreased by 11 per cent and gonorrhea plummeted 24 per cent.

Among states with a significant number of cases, the ASHA said, Louisiana had the largest increase: 245 per cent. Other states with sharp rises included Pennsylvania, 96 per cent; Texas, 92 per cent; New York, 82 per cent; Florida, 73 per cent; Illinois, 40 per cent, and California, 25 per cent.

Negro to Sell Back House, Settling Ruckus

An interracial ruckus over a Negro family moving into an all-white neighborhood on Montgomery street, SE., Friday appeared to have been settled to the satisfaction of everyone concerned.

The Negro, L. C. Freeman, 40, told Municipal Court Judge James Webb he would be willing to sell the house back to the man from whom he had purchased it. Harry Maico, the seller, told the court he would take back the house at 31 Montgomery St.

Webb dismissed charges of disorderly conduct-moving at night against Freeman and Willie Frank Price of Decatur, a truck driver. Patrolman E. C. Carter said he booked the charges Thursday night and later discovered that a city ordinance covering such cases had been repealed.

Carter and Patrolman P. L. Mote said they received a call to the Montgomery street address at 10:32 p.m. Thursday and found Freeman and Price unloading a truckful of furniture into the house and a crowd of white persons gathered outside.

Residents of the area testified the moving was accompanied by "shouts and banging."

Freeman said the truck arrived at 7 p.m., but he said someone hurled a rock soon after he arrived and the unloading was discontinued for several hours.

Asked by Judge Webb if his was the first colored family to move into the section, Freeman replied: "Yes, but I was told that it had been zoned for colored." Webb interjected that there was no such provision under the law and asked if the agent were present.

Maico said he took the house in exchange for another piece of property and understood at the time that homes there were for sale to Negroes. He said that after the transaction he found residents had held a meeting and decided not to sell.

"I was caught in the middle," he said.

Fire Sweeps Home While Family Is Out

Flames late Friday heavily damaged a two-story frame residence at 2929 Bankhead Highway, NW, police said.

Patrolmen C. C. Sewell and M. L. Davis said the P. M. Mell family, occupants, were away when the fire was discovered. The house was heavily damaged by flames, somke and water, patrolmen said.

Incumbents All File in Fulton Races

The last two of 13 incumbent Fulton County officeholders up for re-election in the Sept. 4 primary qualified Friday with the County Democratic Executive Committee.

State Rep. M. M. (Muggsy) Smith and Surveyor Joseph W. Steed posted entrance fees with the committee a day before the entrance deadline. The deadline is noon Saturday.

All the other incumbents have qualified. So far, only three of them are opposed. They are Sheriff T. Ralph Grimes, who is opposed by County Commissioner Archie Lindsey; Fulton Civil Court Judge Paul S. Etheridge, who is opposed by Alpharetta Attorney William E. Spence, and Smith, who is opposed by former Rep. Jesse L. Walton.

Others up for re-election are Civil Court Judge J. Wilson Parker, Coroner Thomas E. Compton, School Supt. Paul D. West, Sol. Gen. Paul Webb, Rep. Ralph McClelland, Rep. Wilson Brooks, Superior Court Clerk J. W. Simmons, Ordinary Eugene Gunby and Sen. Charlie Brown.

Democrats Allot Top Hotel Space To Georgians

Georgia's delegates to the Democratic convention in Los Angeles will have prime hotel space, state party chairman James H. Gray announced Friday.

Gray said the arrangements committee had assigned Georgians to the Mayflower Hotel in the heart of the city. "We got a very good break on it," he declared.

National party officials at one time threatened to exile Georgians to the suburbs if the state party did not pay its dues. The decision to pay has been made since Gray took over the post.

Cities Cutting Populations, Briton Says

By HUNTER JAMES

Sir Frederick Osburn is an unconventional British planning expert who had rather build a new town than rebuild an old one.

Friday afternoon, in a talk at Georgia Tech, Sir Frederick said: "We used to be proud of the fact that London was the largest city in the world. Now we're proud of the fact that we're the first city that has tried to reduce its population."

He suggested that Atlanta might try the same thing.

"You will have to have something to compete about; so you can say, 'Bah, you've only reduced the size of your city by 20,000 this year and we've reduced ours by 30,000."

Sir Frederick came to Atlanta to confer with builders of Peachtree City, Georgia's first planned town, which will be located near Fayetteville.

When the Tech students questioned Sir Frederick about urban renewal, he said, "When they rebuild the centers of our old towns in England, they can seldom put back more than half of the original population."

So what you have to do, he said, is build a new town 20 or 30 miles away. Then you surround it with a belt of meadow and woodland.

The new town eventually will hold 50,000 or 60,000 persons. And that's all. "The green belt helps contain urban sprawl," Sir Frederick said.

State Youth Board Urged by Judges

Constitution State News Service

COLUMBUS—The Georgia Juvenile Court Judges Assn. meeting here Friday resolved that a state youth authority be set up to handle juvenile delinquent mtaters. The youth authority would administer to state training schools, have liaison probation officers working with juvenile courts and handling other services connected with youth courts.

Year's Building Passes $34 Million

Construction valued at more than $2 million was announced by the office of Building Inspector William R. Wofford Friday.

Thus far this year construction valued at $34,055,476 has been authorized, compared to $43 million plus for the first five months of 1959 when an all-time record was established.

Heading the list of new projects authorized is an $800,000 addition and renovation for the First Presbyterian Church at 1328 Peachtree St., NE. Next in value were permits for 110 new apartment units valued at $433,000, and additions and renovations for the North Avenue Presbyterian Church, 607 Peachtree St., NW, costing $441,000.

An $160,000 renovation for the Capital City Club, 48 Peachtree St., NW; an $100,000 addition for the Atlanta Coca-Cola Bottling Co. plant at 864 Spring St., NW; 44 apartment units at 1929 Boulevard, NE, costing $200,000, and being erected by C. W. Darby, and 14 other apartment units at 1135 Woodland Ave., NE, costing $72,000 and being built by J. and Irene Kalish, completed the roll call of large projects authorized for the day.

Cheers, Problems Greet Eisenhower

President Eisenhower came back to Washington and a large and warmly friendly bipartisan welcome. But it was not a return in triumph or victory as he himself made plain.

No greater disappointment has ever come to Mr. Eisenhower than the sudden and calamitous collapse of the four-power conference at Paris. Everyone close to the nation's chief executive knew that he had dedicated his last two years in office to working for world peace.

As an old soldier, he said, he had seen enough of death and grief. And now, to have failed because of bad luck and administrative ineptitude is for him a crown of sorrow.

The old smile was there, a little wan, perhaps, but still present. The obvious friendship of the crowd. The cheers, the shouts, the waving children. All these were gratifying. But the world has a new situation and it is not a good one.

For Dwight Eisenhower there will be no more opportunity to negotiate for peace. This hurts. It was for him a great cup of bitterness. After the original blunders, he acquitted himself well. He did answer abuse with dignity and logic. He did hold his temper. He earned the respect of all those who deplore boorishness and vulgarity such as Khrushchev showed in his frenzied exhibition. The Soviet leader did overplay his hand. But what few gains there were to be picked from the debacle were his.

Mr. Eisenhower does not believe in frightening the nation. And this is wise. But there is a danger that his kind and almost gentle reminders that we must work harder and tighten our belts are perhaps dangerously lacking in necessary emphasis.

The truth is both unpleasant and dangerous. In Berlin, destiny may, soon or late, present us with a choice of war or of withdrawing into the status of a secondary power. These things were also in the sultry air of a day in which thundershowers chased one another between alternate periods of splendid sunshine.

The remaining months of his administration cannot be wasted. They will be if political considerations are allowed in any degree to affect the great task of creating a new policy and of seeing to it that the European Alliance, which privately is badly shaken, is restored.

It is good to have Mr. Eisenhower back home. He is a fine, decent man of good instincts and character. It may be best that he remain here rather than going to Japan, where he would almost surely have a bad time of it, and Korea. The big job now to be done is in Washington.

The nation is behind Mr. Eisenhower. The bipartisan welcome in Washington was repeated in the hearts and minds of millions all over this country. But there must be a vigorous putting of things in order, a priority for putting first things first. And this can be done only in Washington.

Nikita Changes Masks But Purpose Is Same

Nikita Khrushchev, a man of many faces, changed masks with his usual dexterity yesterday in a performance before a cheering audience of East German comrades.

He denounced President Eisenhower and blamed "reactionary forces" for blowing up the summit conference. He launched an attack on West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

This was the hard side of his face but at that it was much softer than in Paris.

Nor was he so anxious to reach for the fountain pen which, in a fit of temper at Paris, he had threatened to whip out to sign a separate treaty with Communist East Germany. Now he was ready to let the dust settle and wait until another summit conference, which he wants at his own convenience soon after President Eisenhower is out of office, to settle the problem.

Then came the pious face of Khrushchev.

In the interim, he said, "We shall do nothing to sharpen the international situation and bring it back to the worst times of the cold war."

There we have some of the faces of Khrushchev. The free world knows little of what motivates the sudden switches or what kind of pressure he may be under at home.

But of this we can be sure. The purpose remains the same, that of domination. To the Soviet Union, achieving the goal is a matter of tailoring actions to fit specific situations. At the moment, Khrushchev has reverted to the waiting game as far as outward appearance is concerned.

By now, however, we should be aware of how quickly situations change and how important it is that the nation be prepared to cope with whatever comes next in the Soviet drive to obtain its objective.

'Power for Peace' Has New Impact This Year

Armed Forces Week activities, including the big observance today at Dobbins Air Force Base, have an even greater significance this year in view of events in Paris and the renewed tensions between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Faced with a full-scale resumption of the cold war and the ever-present danger of a hot war, this country has no choice but to maintain the armed strength necessary to deter aggression and to protect our own and the free world's interests. Theme of this year's observance, "Power for Peace," still holds. But it also is power to fight if need be to prevent destruction of our way of life.

After more than a dozen years of negotiations, there are still no disarmament agreements. Until such time as all nations agree to live in peace under a system of controlled and inspected disarmament, that power must be maintained. Should such a system ever be achieved, it will be because of the military power in being today which has prevented war.

No one knows what the next few months will bring in East-West relations. Major reason for Khrushchev's behavior at the summit, many observers believe, is that he has become convinced that the United States and the West will not negotiate away their rights at Berlin. No matter what adventure he plans to have his way, there is the great uncertainty of the present. Should the Communists use force to try to dislodge the Western Allies, a shooting war is the dread prospect.

There is one certainty, however. Were it not for the military power of the United States, the Allies long since would have been driven from Berlin and the Communists probably would have overrun most of Europe. Were it not for this power and the men and women who contribute to it, the Soviet Union would be well on its way to world domination and the snuffing out of freedom everywhere.

So today we honor the armed forces and their "power for peace." Their importance as guardians of freedom and national security was never greater in all our history.

Nixon Visit Will Help GOP Efforts in Georgia

Vice President Nixon's office has said he likely will deliver a speech in Atlanta sometime in June. Atlanta is expected to be one of two Southern cities in which Mr. Nixon will make a public appearance.

This is in line with his plan to show himself in all areas of the country, and in as many states as possible, before the conventions. Most of his talks will be under civic organization sponsorship. The real campaigning will come later when and if he is nominated.

Georgia Republicans will, of course, be especially pleased to have him come. They will be heartened and helped. The Republican leadership in Georgia is of a high quality and has shown considerable political integrity. The time may come when enough can be organized in a general election to provide real competition for the Democratic nominees.

Georgia's GOP leaders and the rank and file are to be congratulated on their efforts to establish a two-party system. They have far to go. But they have made a beginning.

Funds Needed in War On Multiple Sclerosis

Multiple sclerosis is a distressing disease. Mostly it affects young people, those in the prime of life, 20 to 40 years old.

The disease is progressively crippling and chronic. It is slow and insidious.

The hope is in research to find the cause and thus the preventive. The help is in patient service for those already crippled.

The campaign for funds for multiple sclerosis fighters will go on through May in Atlanta. The money will be used for hope and for help—60 per cent in Georgia for patient services, 40 per cent for research through the national society.

May the campaign be successful. Hope and help are great gifts to those whose lives have been blighted by a crippler.

Redeveloped areas in Pittsburgh have produced tax revenues for the city, the county and schools twice and three times what they had been before. In one key area, 23 acres produced one million dollars a year more in taxes in 1958 than did the entire 80 acres of which they were a part before redevelopment.

Summit's Unlikely In Mr. K.'s Reign

PARIS—Nikita Khrushchev has not merely boycotted the Paris summit conference; his actions here this week have snuffed out virtually all prospects of there being another summit while he remains Soviet premier. In refusing to sit down with President Eisenhower, he has made it nearly impossible that the next president of the United States can sit down with him.

In a word, the "summit that never was" has ended U.S.-U.S.S.R. summitry for a long time to come.

Khrushchev has now refused to participate in two consecutive summit meetings which he had been the loudest in demanding—the projected United Nations summit in 1958 on Middle Eastern problems and the projected Paris summit this week which was to deal with Germany, Berlin and disarmament.

To his last raucous words at a chaotic press conference, punctuated by recurring boos and a few cheers, Khrushchev dealt almost exclusively in insults when he confided to some 3,000 newspaper correspondents that in his cordial talks at Camp David he even then "smelled something fishy about that fellow" (President Eisenhower) and that this "smell" kept him from taking up candidly with the President the matter of the U2 reconnaissance flights which he said he knew about long before his trip to the United States.

Mr. K. has kept avowing that he wants the heads of government to sit down together to negotiate but he saw this possibility only after there is "another administration in Washington."

Khrushchev's term of office does not come to an end by law or by an election but in the wake of all his words and acts in Paris it is a careful judgment that, from the American standpoint at least, summits with the Russians are out until there is another Soviet premier.

Beyond the fact that Khrushchev has never yet taken part in a summit conference which he had been foremost in bringing about, the basis for the foregoing conclusion is this:

Khrushchev declares that he will never sit down with President Eisenhower until he "condemns as an act of aggression," "apologizes for," "punishes" all who were connected with the overflights and promises that reconnaissance overflights, like the U2, will never take place again.

Since no future president of the United States will conceivably do what Eisenhower is refusing to do—that is, meet such conditions—and since Mr. K. can hardly be expected to withdraw the conditions he has so blatantly insisted upon, it is fair to foresee no further Big Four summits until a new head of the Soviet government is installed in the Kremlin.

It is true that Eisenhower, De Gaulle and Macmillan said that they would be ready to "negotiate" with Khrushchev "at a suitable time in the future." But a summit meeting is only one of the many forms of negotiation and the experience is that they are the least useful, the least productive, instrument of diplomacy.

Atlantan Says U.S. Policy Toward Soviets Must Be Altered To Regain Our Prestige

Atlanta—May 16, 1960, was a day of infamy and a dark hour for the prestige of the United States representing the hopes and the fears of the multitude of people of the free world. Eisenhower's presence at the summit conference with the willingness to visit Russia, notwithstanding the humiliation and the insults that Premier Khrushchev hurled with resounding thunder, has been a bombshell before the eyes of the world. It is sad and tragic that our President has exposed himself to this insult.

When will we face reality? When will we take the initiative? When will we discard the illusions of coexistence and peaceful relations with the Soviet Union? Why must this country place all its hopes in the moods and the mercy of Khrushchev? Are we intolerably weak?

The mask of hypocrisy is off and the true picture of Khrushchev was demonstrated in Paris.

The policy of reconciliation has only brought us abuse, insults and invited our present dilemma. That policy is bankrupt and ineffective.

The security of the United States and the free world has reached the danger point and we must radically change our policy. We must regain our prestige whatever the cost.

He Questions Remarks On School Problem

Atlanta—In the May 15 edition of The Atlanta Journal and The Atlanta Constitution I noticed a headline: "McGill Defines 'Real Tragedy' — Editor Says Politicians Took Away School Problem From the Educators."

When? What politicians?

Does he mean in the segregation decisions of just six years ago—May 17, 1954?

KKK Draws Scorn For Using U.S. Flag

Wrightsville — Recently a car caravan of the KKK came hooting and tooting through Wrightsville. The whole spectacle was sad enough but it had one feature which was especially shameful. This group had the gall to fly the American flag before them. Few groups have less right to do this.

Our flag flew proudly against the Nazis in Germany and the Communists in Korea and we now see it flying for a group which stands for elements of both. What difference is there between the "master race" of the Nazis and the "white supremacy" of the KKK? How much difference is there between the Communist subjection of the individual to the rule of the state and the subjection of the Negro to the rule of the white man, which the KKK would continue? Is one any more American than the other?

If the KKK insists on carrying on its shenanigans let it do so under a flag more appropriate to what it stands for.

Library of Books Contained in Bible

Thumbing through the book review section of a newspaper the other day I marked two books I wished to secure and another three or four I hoped I might be able to read when time permits. During the rest of the day a verse of scripture echoed in my thoughts: "Of the making of books there is no end."

The ancient writer of these words, Ecclesiastes, could not have entertained the slightest conception of how much more true his words would be for our times than for his own. In his day there were no printing presses and none of the opportunities for wide circulation of books such as we know. His generation had very few books and they were tediously and painstakingly copied by scribes on scrolls of one kind or another. Such a process did not produce too many books. Furthermore, there were fewer readers. Nonetheless, Ecclesiastes thought that the production of books would never end.

I do not know how many books are written by American authors each year but the number runs into the tens of thousands.

Recently I spoke with a publisher on the great number of books published each year. I asked him why the number was so large and I wondered if too many books were being written and printed. Of course, he didn't think so. His own publishing house each year increases the number of books on their annual lists. He said that there were more and more books being published for several reasons. One reason is that in America there are each year more readers. Every time another million people are added to our population there are that many more potential readers. A second reason is that more and more Americans have acquired the ability to read and understand books. Literacy is on the increase. A third reason, he claimed, is that there is more to write about.

Most of us love books. We buy them even when we are too busy to read them for we want to have them at hand when an opportunity to read may come. We like the companionship of books in the home.

The first book I ever owned and the book which through the years has meant most to me is, of course, the Bible. Here is a library of books. This library has had and continues to have the largest circulation of any set of books in the world.

Education as we know it was fostered in the Western world so that men of all trades and dispositions might be able properly to read and interpret the Bible. In many ways, secular and religious, the Bible has been the spring from which has come not only much that is most worthwhile in our culture but also many of the books we cherish.

Spike Heel Is 'Plane Hurtful'

Those spiked heels are at it again, high heels, that is, at high altitude. When Trans World Airlines took its first 707 to the shop for overhaul, they rolled back the carpet and were aghast. The aluminum floor of the plane was pitted with dents. Dents outward, not dents inward. The pitted flooring had to be replaced. The next jet came in for overhaul. The next carpet was rolled back. More dents. Same kind, same place.

Dent detectives went to work.

The answer? Not fingerprints but footprints.

Again, the mark of a heel. Spiked shoes on women passengers, pushing through the carpet and into the floor.

The answer? Not fingerprints least until the women wear broader heels aboard.

OF ALL THINGS: At a church supper this week one of the brethren asked if he could sign for the meal on his Diners Club card. . . . Ever been run over by a bulldozer? Publicist Jim Waldrop has been. Ask him about it. Jim came out better than Paddy, who was run over by the steam roller. When friends carried Paddy home and told Bridget, she said, "Just slide him under the door." . . . Roberta Murray, Powder Springs, says they were smiling at this one between 1916 and 1920 — "Actually, there's only a slight difference between keeping your chin up and sticking your neck out." . . . Ever been to a flea market? The Candler Park Civic Club is having one at the clubhouse on Mayson Ave. all day today. Club member Willie Fowler says the marketeers cleaned out his basement, including the fleas. Seems it's really an auction, not of fleas, but "white elephants." Georgia Editors Appraise Mitchell's Candid Speech

Gainesville Daily Times

Rep. Erwin Mitchell of Dalton, forced by ill health out of another campaign for Congress, delivered a "swan song" of almost brash freshness to his district executive committee meeting. He said the ultraconservatism of Georgia's elected leaders, including the state's congressional delegation, violates their label as Democrats and has hurt the state and region. . . .

To a strong degree, he is right. The constant bucking of the Democratic Party has damaged the power of the party and indirectly deprived the region of winning national tickets; the labels worn by some of our congressmen and senators from the South don't really fit the party system; and too often the people we elect do not lead but merely follow what they think the voters want. . . .

Waycross Journal-Herald

The young lawmaker said bluntly that some Southern politicians have instilled in the minds of their people "the false belief that the remainder of the nation literally hates us."

We cannot forever go it alone. Perhaps Dixie's lawmakers would be surprised at the support they would receive back home with a fresh new approach geared to the changing times. . . . For our own sake we must take our rightful place in the national family.

Vienna News

The stirring indictment of Georgia's, and much of the South's, demagogic national leadership in Congress, by Rep. Mitchell is as refreshing as mountain spring water after a sojourn in the desert.

Scoring those "who use our Democratic Party only as an expedient avenue to public office," Rep. Mitchell said, "These political leaders who deem themselves the preservers of our way of life might well be called the destroyers of our future."

The indictment fits almost any politician seeking office in Georgia since the present machine came into power. From coroner to the top, they have all had to pull the forelock and make obeisance to the demagogic principles it upholds, wherever and whenever they make public utterances.

We note he expects to continue on the political scene here and seek office in the State Legislature. We hope this means he is determined to dedicate his efforts to changing the course of the current at its source.

J. Roy McGinty
In The Calhoun Times

Mr. Mitchell makes one point about which there can be no question: The hypocrisy of those who demand local self government under the guise of state rights while refusing to grant local self government to the cities and counties in the management of their schools.

He has announced his candidacy for state senator from the 43rd District and if, as we hope, he is successful it may be that he can be more effective in attacking the evils of which he complains in Atlanta than in Washington.

Kindness Labeled 'Explosive Power'

WASHINGTON — The black-eyed Belgian priest who won the 1958 Nobel peace prize was here this week, speaking of his concern to foster "the dialogue between men." At a press conference at the Belgian embassy, Father Dominique Pire, founder of "The World of the Heart," was asked what he would do to restore the shattered dialogue between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev in Paris.

"I would like to have those two men here in this room with me," he said gently. "I would speak to them about ending suspicion. Of course, one cannot simplify these matters. These two principals are backed by two worlds. In these two worlds, we have the opportunity to sow the seeds of enmity against mistrust. It is impossible to have peace without mistrust, without the absence of egoism."

When he was in Chicago last week for a conference with other Nobel peace prize winners on the reduction of world tensions, he said a journalist accused him of "trying to promote marriage with the devil"—the devil being Russia.

"I would have preferred that you said I was the devil," Father Pire told the journalist. "In this world there are no angels and no devils. There are only human beings.

"Instead of the world being divided this way," he said, making a vertical stroke of the hand, "with good on one side and bad on the other, it should be this way." He made a horizontal motion. "Good and bad on both sides."

Father Pire, a sturdy 50-year-old priest of the Dominican order, said he is not discouraged. He himself intends to go on to "little summits, to modest exchanges" between peoples. He is trying to build what he calls "little bridges" between youth and the older generation, between blacks and whites, between Christians and Moslems.

He recently founded the International Gandhi Center in Belgium, where groups of young people will be trained to service. In January he will go to Pakistan to establish a medical mission. On his way, he will stop at a refugee camp in Gaza.

At the Chicago conference, where, he noted ruefully, the participants had been unable to agree on a joint statement, Father Pire proposed a conference between the winners of the Nobel peace prize and the winners of the Lenin peace prize. The others agreed with him, he said.

Father Pire pleaded with reporters to put forth his ideas and to believe with him in "the explosive power of a simple kindness."

"I am not a magician," he said, when he was asked again about the fiasco at the summit. "It would be a sin for me to put words on top of words. There are already too many words in the world. I can only speak from the heart."

and that those aboard had been arrested.

Eisenhower's forecast had ominous overtones: "We can be watchful for more irritations and possibly other incidents which can be more than annoying."

Yet anyone who hadn't kept up with the news, who didn't know Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev had walked out on the Big Four conference and blamed the United States for its breakdown, would never have guessed this turnout was for a failure, not a success.

Even Eisenhower seemed to be carried away with the reception.

When the motorcade got within two miles of the White House, he and Mrs. Eisenhower and their son, John, switched from a limousine to an open car.

Eisenhower stood up the rest of the way.

Occasionally he held up his two fingers with a V-for-victory sign. He bowed and sometimes held both hands up, waving.

From the start the reception had an unusual twist.

Normally anything involving the President is formal to the point where every move he or his party makes is carefully calculated.

Friday the red carpet was rolled out.

NAMES NOT RELEASED

The missing C-47 left Vaerloese Airport outside Copenhagen at noon Friday en route to Libya via Hamburg.

The Air Force said its records showed six passengers and three crewmen aboard but a spokesman conceded that one scheduled passenger may have missed the flight. The names of those aboard were not immediately available.

The skies were overcast over Denmark and the Schleswig-Holstein peninsula when the unarmed transport took off at noon. The pilot radioed its last position report at 12.40 p.m., one hour before he was due to land at Hamburg. At that time the aircraft was approaching the Danish West German border.

The air route between the two cities passes within 30 miles of the East German frontier east of Luebeck.

But, he said, "we have consulted here about this question and have come to the conclusion that the victory of the peoples over the forces of reaction cannot be prevented.

the utmost dexterity to avoid the loss of our forward bases and at the same time prevent the raising of political issues which could do enormous damage to friendly governments with their own electorates. We can afford no further blunders," the Floridan declared.

Smathers said there were two bright spots in recent developments:

1. The U2 flight proved the Soviet borders were not impregnable.

2. The collapse of the Paris talks served to remind that the Russians "have not really changed their line."

The Paris failure "has certainly destroyed the Republican's great claim that they not only have brought about prosperity but had also brought peace. . . .

"We find ourselves back on the edge of the cliff where we were during the Korean conflict," Smathers said.

The senator addressed the Atlanta Bar Assn. Friday night at the Progressive Club.

The Association presented a special award to Fulton County Sol. Gen. Paul Cadenhead for his "outstanding performances . . . and great personal sacrifice."

New officers of the Association are: T. Charles Allen, president; Clifford Oxford, president-elect. Allen will replace outgoing president Asa Candler.

Members of the executive board are: Sam Lorne, James Dorsey, Jack Etheridge, Woodrow Tucker, Elmo Holt, and Robert Foreman.

a favorite, he said, but "I wouldn't want to announce my choice before the convention."

In answer to questions, he did defend Massachusetts Sen. Kennedy against two common criticisms: Kennedy's Catholicism and his youth.

"As far as I'm personally concerned, it would not bother me what a man's religion is," he declared.

And in answer to arguments that the "boyish, youthful Kennedy" might not be able to stand up against Russian premier Khrushchev, Smathers said youthful vigor might be just what is needed.

"He's a man of proven courage and ability," the Floridan declared.

However, he added, "I think any four candidates could stand up to Khrushchev."

Smathers gave no indication of his attitude toward a Talmadge movement.

Of a Southern split, he said: "I don't foresee it, and I hope there isn't one."

minutes on the long flight in which it soared to a point 1,000 miles above earth. The nose cone, carrying a dummy 1½ - ton warhead and 1,000 pounds of instruments, plunged into the Indian Ocean.

U.S. ships and airplanes stationed downrange for the shot reported spotting the nose cone in its blazing re-entry into the atmosphere. The target was just off Prince Edward Island, a circular inlet about one-third of the way from the Cape of Good Hope to the Antarctic Ocean.

The dramatic shot was viewed as a much-needed booster for U. S. prestige, which had suffered because of the U2 spy plane incident and in the early stages of the summit conference.

The Atlas was fired just as President Eisenhower was flying back home from the crumbled summit meeting.

Jury Finds School Laxity In 11 Fires

The Cobb County Grand Jury declared Friday that 11 fires which struck the Green Acres Elementary School were undoubtedly "the result of criminal agency."

Term-end presentments of the jury said, however, that the "evidence examined by the grand jury is not sufficient at this time to support criminal charges."

The mysterious fire plague at the 600-student school began April 22 and was climaxed May 9 when flames "completely destroyed one wing," the jurors said.

In an apparent answer to local criticism, the jury asserted it had found "no failure of the police agencies to act promptly in this matter."

But the jury said it found that "a failure" by Green Acres personnel "to practice good housekeeping required for fire safety was a contributing factor."

A "careful investigation" of the severe May 9 fire, the jury said, revealed only one fireplug "fronting the building," forcing firefighters to go "1,200 feet to the south and 1,200 feet to the north" to utilize two other plugs.

It also urged county officials to act on: (1) Legislation for setting up and enforcing a fire safety code and (2) creation of a county-wide advisory fire board and immediate hiring of a "trained fire inspector. . ."

that there has been no racial troubles on the island, that there is a "fine colored section" on the island and that he sees no reason for trouble.

"PROBABLY COULDN'T"

State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr., another member of the authority, said the authority probably couldn't close the resort if it wanted to and that he, for one, did not want to.

Private developers have invested almost $8 million in the state-owned island, he said. Sites for motels, hotels and other properties are held by the investors under leases, most of them of 40-year duration.

Thrasher said the authority might be able to close the beaches (the state itself holds all beach area within 200 feet of the high-water mark), but that the investors probably would have legal recourse if the state took such action to the detriment of their businesses.

"NOT WILLING"

"I'm not willing at this time to throw a scare into people—white or colored — who have invested money there or to discourage people from using the island," he added.

"I would oppose any closing that would damage that private business unless the situation got so bad that it couldn't be handled, and then I think whatever action was taken should be done in cooperation with the investors, both white and colored," he said.

State Parks Director Charles Collier, another member, said he has already asked the attorney general's office for a ruling as to who has the power to close state parks. He said he has not received a written reply.

"LOT OF MONEY"

"Private capital has invested an awful lot of money down there," he said. "I just don't know what would happen if integration should be ordered."

Matt L. McWhorter, chairman of the Georgia Public Service Coommission, the fifth member of the authority, was not available for comment Friday.

One end of Jekyll Island is devoted exclusively to Negro use.

In his prepared statement, Cook pointed out that Negroes themselves have invested approximately one million for their own use, "and this has been complemented by the authority providing public facilities in proportion to their needs."

If integration should be ordered, it would be legal for the governor to declare martial law and put the jurisdiction of the facilities under the Military Department, he said. He said he would favor closing the public facilities otherwise.

"ARROGANT ATTEMPT"

Cook took a double-barreled shot at the NAACP Friday, Commenting on an anti-segregation march by Atlanta Negro college students Tuesday, he declared:

"The arrogant attempt on the part of the Negro demonstrators to seize physical possession of the state Capitol last Tuesday in my opinion is another knot in a noose with which they are bound to eventually hang their leaders and their cause."

He also said the NAACP is losing its grip on its followers.

In other resolutions, the convention delegates:

Urged Georgia senators and representatives to support the Forand Bill that would provide social security-type medical aid for the aged.

Decided to hold their 1961 convention in Augusta.

Asked that the United States take action to end the United Arab Republic's "humiliating" blockade of the Suez Canal to ships of the U.S. and other nations.

Called on Congress to raise the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour and to extend the minimum wage law to cover more of the 20 million workers now uncovered.

In urging support of the Forand Bill, the delegates attacked the Republican Party's proposal for states to administer a medical aid to the aged program that would be carried by private insurance companies.

"The proposed federal grant-in-aid with state and local participation without federal controls would not provide equal coverage for all the aged citizens of our country, particularly the citizens of the Southeastern states where the state legislatures are controlled and dominated by business interests," the resolution said.

Preakness To Star Same Cast as Derby

By THE TV SCOUT

SATURDAY'S BEST BET—No Selection Saturday.

4:30-5 (Ch. 5) — Virtually the same cast that starred in the Kentucky Derby will be back for The Preakness from Pimlico in Maryland. The first three finishers in the Derby—Venetian Way, Bally Ache and Victoria Park—will have at it again, with a few others in the supporting cast. The tape re-run will be used again.

This is an anniversary for that technique; it was first employed during the Preakness two years ago.

7:30-8 (Ch. 11)—This is the night you've been waiting for, if your ambition is to see a rock-'n'-roll singer play Chopin.

On the Dick Clark show, Neil Sedaka will sit down at the piano and play. All this is not as far-fetched as you might think; Sedaka was on his way to a classical career when he was talked into writing a r-'n'-r song, and has since all but abandoned his serious music. He'll show both facets of his career here, by following his concert with one of his own songs, singing "Stairway to Heaven."

7:30-8:30 (Ch. 5)—There's an intriguing case on Perry Mason. This is one of those small-town affairs, with a couple of skeletons rattling away in some of the best closets.

Mason's client is a youth, played by Jeremy Slate, who is asscused of beating a man to death. Slate has an odd role; at various times, he's in a full beard, a goatee and clean-shaven.

8:30-9 (Ch. 2) —There's a hot time on The Man and the Challenge. The project for George Nader is to see how much heat a human can stand, then design clothing to increase that capacity.

As a guinea pig, he hires a man who fights oil well fires. The pseudo-scientific chatter is a bit heavy at the beginning, but we settle down to a roaring climax when a genuine oil well fire (excellent newsreel clips spliced in here) bring out the best in both man and clothing. There's a secondary romantic plot; forget it.

Now you can have the healthy tan look you love with a remarkable new lotion that gives you a tan look without sun . . . and also helps protect you against sunburn at the beach! Called TAN PERFECT, it gives you that golden tan look in about 4 hours, rain or shine, because it contains a completely new, safety-tested ingredient that starts to work the moment it comes in contact with the top layers of your skin.

In the sun, tan without burning! If you like to spend hours in the sun—get tan as a berry—you'll love TAN PERFECT! It contains an excellent sun-screening ingredient that shuts out the burning rays of the sun with regular use. Helps you get a deeper tan, faster without painful sunburn, peeling or dried-out skin. Unlike ordinary suntan lotions, after a day at the beach, you can use TAN PERFECT to even out white strap marks or places where the sun didn't tan you.

Turn Tan without sun! Use TAN PERFECT in the morning at home . . . look tan by noon! Yes without any sun at all you can get a perfectly natural golden tan look. For those who prefer to have a darker tan look . . . it's easy, just apply more TAN PERFECT!

Safety-Tested for your protection! In a wide range of laboratory and clinical tests, the remarkable "tanning" ingredient in TAN PERFECT was shown to be safe for all normal skin, even around eyes and over tender skin. It will not irritate or sensitize, is non-toxic.

Not a stain, color, paint, or make-up! Contains no iodine. The tan won't wash off like make-up. Fades naturally like a real suntan.

NOT $3.00, NOT $1.75 BUT ONLY $1.25 PLUS FED. TAX
For an up to 30 day supply (even with once a day use on the face)
T.M. Patent Pending

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE
Used as directed, TAN PERFECT is guaranteed to give you a smooth, even tan appearance wherever you use it—rain or shine, indoors or out, summer or winter! With regular application, it helps prevent sunburning, peeling or drying out. The tan will not come off with ordinary washing or showering. Guaranteed to give you the even, glamorous tan look you expect, or money back!

Swahili Radio Message To Go to Africa Natives

By BETSY FANCHER

This week a Lutheran Missionary from Tanganyika sat down at a microphone at Atlanta's Protestant Radio and Television Center and recorded a Christian message in Swahili aimed at some 25,000,000 East African natives.

Pastor Milan de Lany's words, which will eventually be broadcast on an Ethiopian station operated by Lutheran World Federation, represents one of the first U.S. attempts to conquer the Swahili short wave broadcasts hammering away at East Africa from Russia and Red China.

Pastor de Lany's voice will be familiar to many of his listeners. Born of Missionary parents in Tanganyika, he has served as a school administrator in Kenya, an Educational Secretary for the Lutheran Church of Northern Tanganyika and as Literature Secretary of the Federation of Lutheran Churches in Tanganyika. He has taught and counseled thousands of students from that country and Kenya.

With some 3,000,000 short wave receiving sets now operating in East Africa, the Protestant Radio and Television Center hopes to produce a variety of Christian devotional and educational material in Swahili, which is fast becoming one of the most important languages in the world.

Georgia's Mormons To Meet

Georgia's fast-growing company of Mormons will meet in Atlanta next weekend for a two-day conference of the church's Atlanta Stake.

Principal speaker will be Bishop Carl W. Buehner of the Presiding Bishopric of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. A business executive from Salt Lake City, Utah, he has served the church as a missionary, bishop, stake president and official in the Welfare Plant.

Bishop Buehner

Atlanta Stake President William L. Nicholls will preside at the meetings in the Mormon Temple on Ponce de Leon Avenue. Sunday's meetings at 10:00 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. are open to the public.

Since it was originated in 1955, the Atlanta Stake has grown by 25 per cent, now has some 3,100 members in 13 congregations—a fact which Mr. Nicholls attributes to the work of Mormon missionaries.

Some 200 men and women, aged 20 to 25, go out each year at their own expense from Atlanta's Mission Center to spread the Mormon faith throughout the Southeastern states.

Reverberations from the Summit

Reverbrations of the Summit Conference rang through Miami Beach's city auditorium this week as 14,000 messengers to the Southern Baptist Convention met in annual session.

Concern over the collapse of summit negotiations was apparent in the speeches, the hallway conversations, and even the hymns, Dr. Roy McClain said Friday in a telephone interview from the Convention.

The Atlanta minister who was elected president of the Southern Baptist Pastor's Conference Wednesday and is considered a likely prospect for Convention president next year, said "the Summit fiasco pointed up in clear relief the realism of world tension; it destroyed our false security and our illusions about coexistence."

The overall effect of the international tragedy: A stronger realization that "religion must be more than a Sunday morning doxology," said Dr. McClain.

St. Philip To Hold Massing of Colors

The Massing of the Colors, one of the most brilliant ceremonies of Atlanta's church year, will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Cathedral of St. Philip.

Bearing flags of the Army, Navy and Air Force, a parade of color bearers and guards will march down Peachtree street to the Cathedral's Hall of Bishops, where Dean Alfred Hardeman will officiate at the annual ceremony.

The Atlanta Chapter of Gold Star Wives and Gold Star Mothers will be special guests at the service, which is sponsored by the Atlanta Chapter of the Military Order of the World War.

Dr. Allen To Speak at Camp Today

Dr. Charles L. Allen, pastor of Atlanta's Grace Methodist Church, will speak to nearly 2,000 persons Saturday about the church's responsibility to Georgia young people.

The Atlanta pastor will be the featured speaker at Camp Glisson Day in Dahlonega. This observance is held annually to promote the program of Christian camping and education among Georgia Methodists.

Among the day's activities, Methodists will make a tour of added facilities at Camp Glisson, the North Georgia youth camp and assembly grounds. The Glisson board of managers will map plans for replacing a $25,000 guest house which burned at the camp last week. They will also hear a report from the Conference Board of Education on a new program of rustic camping which will be launched this summer.

Aikman To Address Presbyterian Rally

Leo Aikman, Atlanta Constitution columnist and editorial writer, will be the principal speaker at the spring meeting of the Atlanta Presbyterian Officers Association on May 30.

The meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the new Peachtree Presbyterian Church.

Southern Baptists Oppose Kennedy

Special to The Constitution

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—The Southern Baptist Convention Friday adopted a resolution which evidently opposed the election of a Catholic as president of the United States.

Although no mention was made of Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass), the resolution apparently referred to him.

No voices were heard against the resolution, but there were some arguments from the floor against taking a stand on the issue.

"INESCAPABLY BOUND"

"When a public official is inescapably bound by the dogma and demands of his church, he cannot consistently separate himself from these," the resolution stated.

"This is especially true when that church maintains a position in open conflict with our established and constituted American pattern of life as specifically related to religious liberty, separation of church and state, the freedom of conscience in matters related to marriage and the family, the perpetuation of free public schools and the prohibition against use of public moneys for sectarian purposes.

"Therefore, the implications of a candidate's affiliations, including his church, are of concern to the voter in every election.

"SHOULD BE FREE"

"In all cases, a public official should be free from sectarian pressures that he may make independent decisions consistent with the rights and privileges of all citizens."

Wendell G. Davis, Charlotte, N.C., presented the resolution, which was adopted by a voice vote.

A firm stand against "any Roman Catholic for president of the United States" had already been taken by The Christian Index, a publication of the Georgia Baptist Convention.

In an editorial published last week, the Index said that a candidate's religion "is all important to us, especially when he identifies himself with those who suppress freedom at every opportunity."

Accusing the Roman Catholic Church of religious and political dictatorship, the editorial said that "no loyal Roman Catholic can ever separate himself from his church."

Church Notes Half Century At Avondale

An Avondale church which was founded at a tent revival celebrate sits 50th anniversary Sunday with Homecoming and dinner-on-the-grounds.

Former pastors, members and friends of Avondale Methodist Church will see pictures of earlier church buildings, old records, charts and posters showing the history of the church and its expansion goals for the future.

The Rev. P. G. Curry, pastor of the church from 1948 to 1950, will preach at the 11 a.m. worship service, and the Rev. Wesley Clifford, former assistant pastor, will preach at the evening service.

The Rev. W. L. Cawthon has been pastor of the church since 1953.

The first site of the Avondale church was a white frame building at the corner of Rockbridge and Stone Mountain roads. The present site is at 150 N. Clarendon Ave.

185 Children To Sing at West End Church

The graded choirs of West End Baptist Church will observe their third annual choir commencement, at 7:45 p.m. Sunday.

One hundred eight-five children, age 4 to 12, will present a program of sacred songs and receive special recognition for the year's work, says Dr. O. Norman Shands, pastor.

LUTHERAN LEADER Jack T. Oetgen, Atlanta layman, has been elected secretary of the United Lutheran Church Men, which has some 20,000 members in United Lutheran congregations in the United States, Canada and the Caribbean. A member of the United Lutheran Church's Board of Social Missions and of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Mr. Oetgen will assume his new duties June 1.

Dr. Littell Quits Emory For SMU

Dr. Franklin Littell, an outstanding scholar and writer in the field of church history, has resigned his post at Emory University to join the faculty of Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas.

A professor of church history at Candler School of Theology since Sept. 1, 1958, Dr. Littell will serve in the same capacity at SMU when he assumes his duties there this Summer.

Among his publications are "The Anabaptist View of the Church" (Brewer Prize essay of the American Society of Church History, 1952); "The Free Church" (Boston, 1957); "Landgraf Philipp und die Toleranz" (Bad Nauheim—Berlin, 1957): "Von der Freiheit der Kirche" (Bad Nauheim-Berlin, 1957); Co-editor, "Weltkirchenlexikon: An Ecumenical Handbook" (Kreuz-Verlag of Stuttgart, 1959); author, "The German Phoenix: Men and Movements in Germany" (Doubleday & Co., 1960); and many articles for professional and academic journals.

He has served as a consultant to the American Center for Theological Studies, Inc., and to the National Conference of Christians and Jews in the area of religion in higher education. Dr. Littell received the Grand Order of Merit of the German Republic from President Theodor Heuss in October, 1958.

He is married to the former Harriet Lewis of Great Falls, Mont. They have four children.

Rev. Lee to Speak

The Rev. Robert E. Lee, pastor of Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, will speak at the Newberry College commencement May 29 in Newberry, S.C.

Friends of All Faiths Honored by Temple

The encouragement of a community during the dark days after the bombing of the Jewish Temple in October 1958 has been commemorated in the Temple's new auditorium.

Atlantans of all faiths have been invited to an open house Sunday in the auditorium, which is dedicated: "In gratitude to those whose comfort and encouragement sustained and strengthened us."

The auditorium is in the new David Marx Educational Building, named for the Temple's beloved rabbi emeritus, who served as rabbi for 51 years.

Between 3 and 5 p.m., guests will be taken on a tour of the building which houses an adult lounge, a youth lounge, classrooms, a school office, an infirmary, a school library, a large double room for small assembly programs and an arts and crafts room for younger children.

The Temple itself has been completely refurbished. The stage of the old Assembly Hall has been converted to offices and the kitchen is now a study for Rabbi Jacob Rothschild. New additions include a bride's room, a cloak room, a Sisterhood gift shop and office, a board room and library.

Guests will also visit the Helen E. Massell Chapel. Symbolizing the Wilderness Tabernacle, the chapel's sloping walls recall the Tent of Meeting. The ark, which is faced with fired tile, is veiled by a translucent curtain, a "veil of testimony." The Eternal Light, inspired by the burning bush, is symbolized by an oil lamp which will be kept aflame by the children of each new confirmation class.

A special service commemorating the Temple's new facilities will be held at 11:15 a.m. Saturday.

Director Of Music Adds Much

QUESTION: I wonder if you would like to express your opinion on the matter of paying a qualified music director in a church. To me it doesn't seem right that we should hire a man to do that.—M. G.

It has been said by some that Martin Luther's hymn, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," had as much to do with bringing about the Reformation as did the preaching of the reformers. It is of course debatable, but it does point up the significance of music in worship.

John Wesley in the height of the great revival in Britain made th statement that if the hymns of the church could not be sung well and on key, they should not be sung at all.

The rightness of having a director of music depends entirely upon what his contribution is to the spiritual life of the church and how much the church expects him to invest in the way of his time and of his talent.

Revivals at Grant Park, Decatur

Two Atlanta churches will be holding revivals next week.

Evangelist Don Brandeis and musical director Carlos Gruber, a team which has led revivals in churches throughout the United States and Canada, will lead a series of services at Grant Park Baptist Church.

Services will be held at 7:30 p.m., May 22-29.

A revival is already in progress at Decatur Church of the Nazarene. The Rev. Paul Stewart is conducting services at 7:45 p.m., on week days and at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. May 22 and May 29, the concluding day of the revival.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

"Holy Bible" . . . the churches of Christ salute you." ROM. 16:16

THE MEASURE OF THE SPIRIT

The Holy Spirit definitely has a function in man's redemption. He exercises a tremendous influence over man in leading him to salvation. No one should in any way minimize the importance of the work of the Holy Spirit. However, the Scriptures clearly reveal that all men in all ages did not receive the Holy Spirit in the same measure, or for the same purpose. An understanding of this fact would eliminate much of the confusion on this subject.

The Scriptures teach that there are four different measures of the Holy Spirit:

The Full Measure: This measure was possessed only by Jesus. "For he whom God hath sent speaketh the words of God: for God giveth not the Spirit by measure unto him"—(John 3:34). God gave the Holy Spirit in His fullness without measure to Christ as the Messiah. Christ's earthly life was under the complete control and influence of the Holy Spirit.

The Baptismal Measure: Only two occasions are recorded in the Scriptures where this measure was given. Jesus made this promise to the apostles, "Ye shall be baptized with the Holy Spirit not many days hence"—(Acts 1:5). This promise was fulfilled on the day of Pentecost (Acts 2:1-47). The purpose of this measure of the Spirit upon the apostles, as explained by Jesus, was to cause them to remember what He had taught. (John 14:26). Again, ". . . he will guide you into all truth"—(John 16:13). The only other occasion on record where the Holy Spirit was given in a baptismal measure is in chapters 10 and 11 of Acts. The purpose of His coming upon the household of Cornelius, who were Gentiles, was to convince the Jews "God also to the Gentiles granted repentance unto life." (Acts 11-18).

The Miraculous Gift Measure: This was a measure of the Holy Spirit received by the disciples during the period between the establishment of the church, 33 A.D., and the close of the first century, when the Scriptures were completed. This measure of the Spirit could be imparted only by prayer and the laying on of the apostles' hands. (Acts 8:14-17; 19:6) There were nine miraculous gifts of the Holy Spirit given to the members of the early church; these are named in I Corinthians 12:8-10. Paul wrote: "But covet earnestly the best gifts: and yet show I unto you a more excellent way"—(I Corinthians 12:31). Again, "But when that which is perfect is come, than that which is in part shall be done away"—(I Corinthians 13:10). Thus the duration of this measure of the Holy Spirit, which included the "speaking in tongues," "healing the sick," etc., lasted only approximately 70 years, or until the New Testament was written, which is the perfect law of liberty.

The Indwelling Gift Measure: The apostles speaking under the guidance of the Holy Spirit on Pentecost (Acts 2), said ". . . Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. For the promise is unto you, and to your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call" (Acts 2:38, 39). "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you" (I Corinthians 3:16). All Christians received this measure, which is not a "second blessing," nor is it given only to some Christians and withheld from others. Nor is it something that one seeks for after he becomes a Christian. ". . . and so is also the Holy Spirit, whom God hath given to them that obey Him" (Acts 5:32). The duration of this indwelling gift measure of the Holy Spirit is from 33 A.D. to the end of time.

CONCLUSION:

How We Receive the Holy Spirit Today? By receiving the word of Christ, John 6:63; and by obeying the commandments of Christ. (Acts 2:38; Acts 5:32).

Men today do not receive the baptismal measure of the Holy Spirit; nor do they receive the miraculous measure. Men can and do receive the indwelling measure by following the same plan given by Christ, delivered by the Holy Spirit, and spoken by the Apostles on the day of Pentecost. "Repent and be baptised every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit" (Acts 2:38).

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You now have a day when so much energy and power are released that you need to use it wisely and constructively.

Aries (March 21 to April 19). Be most friendly with those whom you contact today who can be helpful to you. Taurus (April 20 to May 20). Put behind you quickly and in a cheerful attitude that large number of chores facing you. Gemini (May 21 to June 21). Go out socially and have a good time.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21). The day is excellent for social pleasures and increasing prestige. Dress formally in the evening. Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21). While morning chores may not be very inviting, it is important you put them behind you. Be devoted to loved ones. Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22). Follow your intuition with regard to pleasing those you love and becoming more secure and happy yourself. Evening fine for romantic leanings.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22). Get out early with an associate for calls or shopping, important duties. P.M. fine for recreation. Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21). Take particular care in motion, driving this morning. Then the rest of the day is ideal for any pleasures. Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21). Be most careful with the expenditure of money this morning. Be cheerful and dynamic.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20). Be sure you are not too forceful with others in a.m. Buy little gifts. Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19). Work constructively. This evening be of good cheer, and have lots of fun. Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20). Don't depend upon a tried and true friend to any extent this a.m. since he, or she, is very busy.

RHYME A DAY

By OLLIE REEVES

"The advent of the first child may demoralize the household at first, but babies have great resistance and young parents should not panic with their new duties."—Child article quote.

Whenever the first child arrives . . . It makes great changes in the lives . . . Of people scattered far and wide . . . For mama, who was last year's bride . . . For papa, who was last year's groom . . . And grandma who must have a room . . . Prepared for her, since she'll be there . . . To give the baby time and care.

Poor grandpa will be left alone . . . To keep the house and cook his own . . . "Provisions" and make up his bed . . . Make sure the parakeet is fed . . . "Take out" the dog for exercise . . . And busy himself otherwise.

Four people's lives will be upset . . . By that ONE in the bassinet . . . An eight-pound animal, so weak . . . And dumb it hasn't learned to speak . . . But it can yell and wave its hands . . . And everybody understands . . . It's either hungry, wet or mad . . . Or something else that's just as bad.

Regardless of what we may think . . . A baby is the missing link . . . Inserted in the family chain . . . To make the old folks work again.

FATHER ARRESTED

Quisenberry Case In Court Again

Carl D. Quisenberry will face a new charge Monday before Fulton Criminal Court Judge Charles A. Wofford of failing to support his wife and eight children.

The family got into the news last August when Mrs. Opal Quisenberry gave her children away after her husband left home. Quisenberry returned, the couple was reunited, and the husband was given a probationary 12-month sentence for abandonment.

Probation Officer William Puckett of the Adult Probation Office arrested Quisenberry Friday on the complaint of Mrs. Quisenberry that her husband had been gone for two days and had not been supporting his family. She said he had not worked in two weeks.

She told probation officials that when her husband left home there was "not a bite to eat in the home for the children." She said she obtained food from her brother.

Quisenberry was arrested at his home Friday morning after his wife reported he had returned.

Assistant Chief Probation Officer Lee D. Dillingham pointed out that conditions of Quisenberry's probation require him to support his family, to live with them and to report to the office if he is out of work.

Puckett said that when he arrested Quisenberry, the defendant told him he was "tired of everybody sticking their noses in his business." But Dillingham asserted that under the probationary sentence, Quisenberry's actions are the court's business.

Art Festival For Children To Be Held

More than 1,000 pieces of children's art, sculpture and crafts will be exhibited during the six-day International School Arts Festival opening at 3 p.m. Sunday at Lenox Square Mall.

Musical and dance programs will be presented during the festival which is jointly sponsored by the Atlanta and Fulton County public schools, the Atlanta Red Cross, and Lenox Square.

For the festival, students in grades seven through 12 in 48 countries have depicted life in their countries. The works are exchanged worldwide through the Red Cross, according to Miss Mariema Miller, general chairman.

At 7:30 p.m. Monday, a program will be presented by Roosevelt High School, Benteen Elementary School, Roswell High School and the Atlanta Community Orchestra.

At 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, a program will be presented by the Bolton, Parklane and Northeast elementary schools.

At 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, music and dances will be presented by the E. P. Howell, Annie E. West and Atlanta elementary schools.

Garden Hills Elementary School and Northside, Sylvan and Southwest high schools will present a program at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Grady, College Park and Headland high schools, Whitefoord Elementary School and the Georgia Tech Band will present a program at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Dishes Rented By Queen Gone

LONDON (AP) — Buckingham Palace was mildly agitated Friday about the loss of 17 dinner dishes worth 4 pounds 9 shilling 3 pence—$12.50. Palace officials said a search has been going on since the dishes were missed after a reception given by Queen Elizabeth II for 1,000 guests on May 4. The porcelain souffle dishes were on hire to the palace from a London caterer. "We're not in the least perturbed," said the caterers "The dishes may have been temporarily mislaid or perhaps broken."

Symington Turns Down Georgia Bid

The three leading presidential contenders who were invited to address Georgia Democrats' Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner June 7 apparently will be unable to attend.

Party Chairman James H. Gray said Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri had given a flat refusal because of prior commitments.

Party sources said it was unlikely the other two, Sens. John Kennedy of Massachusetts and Lyndon Johnson of Texas, would accept if Symington does not.

The candidates stand to lose either Northern or Southern support by becoming involved in debate over segregation, it was pointed out.

Dishes Rented By Queen Gone

LONDON (AP) — Buckingham Palace was mildly agitated Friday about the loss of 17 dinner dishes worth 4 pounds 9 shilling 3 pence—$12.50. Palace officials said a search has been going on since the dishes were missed after a reception given by Queen Elizabeth II for 1,000 guests on May 4. The porcelain souffle dishes were on hire to the palace from a London caterer. "We're not in the least perturbed," said the caterers "The dishes may have been temporarily mislaid or perhaps broken."

Danny's Boys

Shortly after Bobby Bragan offered to share an orange pop with an umpire at home plate in 1957, he was dismissed as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Joe Brown startled one and all by announcing that Coach Danny Murtaugh would steer the Bucs for the remainder of the season.

Murtaugh had served four seasons in the minors as an apprentice without illuminating success. However, Brown was aware that Murtaugh's three-year tour in New Orleans was no test of the man's managerial skill.

Outlar

Brown knew the Pels weren't armed with pennant material. He was the general manager of the Pittsburgh farm when Murtaugh logged two fifth and a second-place finish in the Southern Association.

When Murtaugh took over the Pittsburgh reins on Aug. 3 of 1957, it was assumed that he was merely a stopgap pilot. Though the Pirates wound up in a dead heat with the Cubs for last-place laurels, they performed above the .500 level for Murtaugh.

Brown took the big gamble and brought Murtaugh back for an encore. The Pirates zoomed from last to second-place in their first full campaign under Murtaugh. Though they beat six clubs, they were nine lengths behind the pennant-winning Braves.

Baseball authors agreed that Murtaugh had got the most out of the least, however, and they named the new Buc boss Manager of the Year in the N. L.

Patient Pittsburgh fans, who have been waiting until next year since 1927, assumed that the Pirates were rehearsing for a pennant. But fate frowned on the Bucs last year. George Witt and Curt Raydon, who contributed 17 victories in '58, did not win a game. Bob Friend, who won 22 the previous year, won only 8 and lost 19. Bob Skinner and Bill Mazeroski experienced colossal slumps.

—The Boss Applauds His Pilot

Murtaugh probably deserved louder plaudits for anchoring the Bucs fourth last season than he did for finishing second in '58.

In Florida last March, some suggested that this could be the year that the Pirates would uncover the pennant gold. Murtaugh readily conceded that his troops had a chance to take it all. He promptly punctuated such remarks with several IFs.

If Bob Friend made a strong comeback; if Skinner and Mazeroski regained their batting eyes; if Roberto Clemente had a good year; if some of the young pitchers came through; if the Bucs solved the baffling mystery of winning on the road.

Friend has won five games, Clemente and Skinner are batting .372 and .350, respectively, Mazeroski is third in the league in RBI (26) and Joe Gibbon and Georgian Jim Umbricht have given the mound corps a lift.

It all adds up to first place, for the Pirates were leading the league Friday night when they launched an important series against the Giants.

"Murtaugh has done a terrific job with this club," Pittsburgh Pres. Joe Brown praised via telephone. "He is without a doubt the most underrated manager in baseball. You don't hear too much about him, but he plays sound baseball. He knows how to handle players, and he has a great knack of keeping up morale."

Brown was thinking about the rocky trip out West when he mentioned morale. The Bucs had won nine in a row before bowing in St. Louis. And in San Francisco they looked like amateurs in dropping three to the Giants. In one horrifying exhibition they committed seven errors to ice the cake for the Giants.

—Umbricht Prospering in Relief

But Murtaugh got his men back on the right track and they completed the long journey with a 10-7 record. They are now in the midst of a 16-game stand at friendly Forbes Field.

"It's encouraging to see the club winning on the road," Brown remarked. "And it was really great to win six straight from Milwaukee this year before the Braves beat us."

At this early juncture, the Bucs need only one more triumph to equal their entire victory total against the Braves last year.

"Friend has made a fine comeback," Brown added, "and I've insisted all along that we have the best pitcher in baseball in Vernon Law (6-1). Your Georgia boy, Jim Umbricht, is helping us. He didn't do too well as a starter, but he's coming through in relief. He did a great job against Milwaukee the other night.

"Clemente is leading the league in RBI and hitting .372; Skinner and Smoky Burgess have been rapping the ball. Don Hoak is starting to hit now. Dick Stuart has hit only two home runs, but he has saved some games at first base."

Does Mr. Brown expect to hoist a gonfalon at season's end?

"We're just hopeful," Brown answered. "As I said in Florida we've got a chance, but there's not a pushover in the league. It's going to be a hot race all the way."

And at the moment, Pittsburgh is the hottest team in the race.

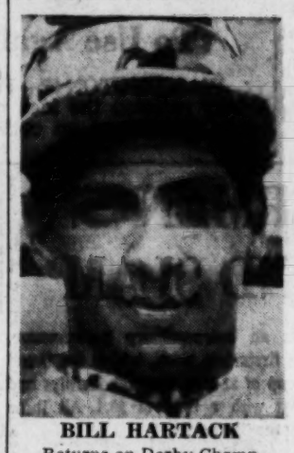
Can Venetian Way Add Second Jewel?



BILL HARTACK
Returns on Derby Champ

BALTIMORE (AP)—Half a dozen colts, the smallest field since 1950, were entered Friday for the 84th Preakness—the world's richest race for 3-year-old thoroughbreds.

Included in Saturday's line-up were the 1-2-3 finishers in the $158,950 Kentucky Derby two weeks ago — Isaac Blumberg's Venetian Way, Turfland Inc.'s Bally Ache, and the Canadian star E. P. Taylor's Victoria Park.

Venetian Way remained the even money favorite to win the $150,000-added classic over the mile and three-sixteenths distance.

A late development during the day was the selection of a jockey for Victoria Park.

Manuel Ycaza rode the colt in the Derby, but was committed to ride elsewhere Saturday. The job finally was given 26-year-old Tony DeSpirito, the Lawrence, Mass., rider who is one of New England's most important contributions to the jockey ranks. DeSpirito, who led U.S. riders in 1952 with 390 winners, rode in the 1958 Preakness. He finished 12th and last with the Marine Chance Farm's Liberty Ruler, who ran as an entry with Jewel's Reward.

TONY DESPIRITO
Picked for Victoria Park

Bally Ache, the speed demon who blistered the early Derby pace only to be caught on the final turn and passed by Venetian Way, is the 8-5 second choice. Victoria Park, Canada's champion 2-year-old last year, is next at 6 to 1.

Others in the field, which is the same size as 10 years ago when Hill Prince upset Derby winner Middleground, are the British-bred and Irish-raised Celtic Ash from the Green Dunes farm of Joseph E. O'Connell; Divine Comedy, representing the Llangollen Farm of Mrs. Liz Person, and Chase McCoy's T. V. Lark. All will pack 126 pounds. Of the three only Divine Comedy appeared in the Derby. He ran ninth in a field of 13.

If all six go to the post at approximately 4:48 p.m., e.s.t., the jackpot will gross $175,100 with $121,000 going to the winner.

Stark's RBI Leads Greater Atlanta Win

City All-Stars Defeated In Eighth Classic, 8-7

By PAUL ATKINSON

Hapeville's Richard Stark tendered Russell's Butch Norris a second chance to score the winning run Friday night, and the second time was the charm for Greater Atlanta High School All-Stars.

Stark's line double to right in the ninth inning sent Norris bustling around from second base and pinned the eighth loss on the City League, 8-7.

Before Stark's reprieve, it had been embarrassing to Norris. For he had failed to touch third base on pinch-hitter Malcolm Dunlevie's single in the seventh for what appeared to be a colossal faux pas to the 6,500-plus "freeloaders" at the Journal's annual shindig.

North Fulton's Wade St. John was the loser, surrendering the tying run on Dunlevie's hit and the winner on Stark's shot to-right.

St. John got himself in trouble after opening the ninth inning in auspicious fashion. He cut down Freddie Woodward on strikes, but walked both Norris and Headland's Jimmy Robinson. Then young Stark sliced the ball down the rightfield foul line, and Norris made sure that he touched third while on his game-winning journey from second.

The victory went to College Park's Tommy Fields, who

Neyland Ill in DB Hospital

Tennessee's AD Has Pneumonia

DAYTONA BEACH (AP)—Gen. Robert R. Neyland, University of Tennessee athletic director, was reported ill in Halifax General Hospital here Friday.

An attending physician said Neyland, 68, has pneumonia and is in fair condition.

Neyland was stricken Thursday while attending a meeting of Southeastern Conference football coaches and athletic directors. He was removed from a motel, where the meetings are being held, to the hospital.

"He wanted to leave for Knoxville," said Dr. G. K. Ehringer "but we wouldn't hear of it."

Mrs. Neyland has come here from their Sarasota, Fla., home to be with her husband.

SEC officials are here for their annual spring get-together.

Pirates Score Two in 12th To Outlast Giants, 5-4

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The first-place Pittsburgh Pirates rallied for two runs in the 12th inning Friday night and edged San Francisco 5-4 to increase their lead over the Giants to 1½ games.

A crowd of 39,439—second largest for a night game in Forbes Field history — saw Don Hoak single and score on Dick Groat's double to tie the game 4-4 in the 12th.

After Bob Skinner was purposely passed and Dick Stuart flied out to Orlando Cepeda at the scoreboard, Roberto Clemente poked a single to right that scored Groat with the winning marker.

Thunderous Crackers Wallop Barons Behind Richert, 11-0

By CHARLIE ROBERTS
Constitution Sports Writer

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Birmingham's second largest crowd of the Southern Assn. season came out Friday night to see if it's true what they say about the Crackers' ace southpaw and overpowering batting attack.

Every Baron-loving one of the 2,419 voted "Yea" after watching Rube Walker's Men of Maul massacre the Barons, 11-0, as Pete Richert fashioned a sassy four-hit, 10-strike out victory.

Ired by a Birmingham newspaper headline that screamed "Cousin Atlanta here," the Crackers tore into Gene Bacque, Ross Grimsely and Wyman Carey for 13 hits that included home runs by Jim Williams and Bill Lajorie and triples by Don Le John and Doug Camilli.

Thus in one night did the Crackers equal their entire Rickwood Park victory total of 1959.

Singles in the third and fourth innings by George Thomas and Ron Shoop were the only two Richert serves the Barons managed to knock beyond the confines of the infield in the first seven innings.

Jim Hughes and Thomas smote powerful flies to Williams in deep center in the eighth to make it four all-told. For in the ninth a double play and a strikeout took care of the final outs after an error and Richert's fifth free pass put two Barons aboard.

The 20-year-old New Yorker blazed a third strike by nine batters, the first four "looking," in the first five innings.

After that he was lolling on a 7-0 cushion and was content to let his fielders do the work until he whiffed pinch-hitting Gail Henley for the final out.

In carding his first shutout, the second by an Atlanta moundsman, Richert became the first Southern Assn. flinger to win six games. He has lost two.

The 10 whiffs upped the sen-

TECH'S ED NUTTING HEAVES, RECORD FALLS
Shot Mark of 56 Feet, 6¾ Inches Set in Trials

Ed Nutting Breaks SEC's Shot Record

LSU's Fornaris Dropped But Tigers Still Favored

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Ed Nutting of Georgia Tech opened the Southeastern Conference track meet with a record shot put of 56 feet, 6¾ inches in Friday's trials.

It was the only new mark on a hot, humid qualifying day that otherwise was featured by the disqualification of Louisiana State's Jim Fornaris after he won a heat of the 220-yard dash.

An inspector reported Fornaris ran out of his lane for several yards around a curve of the University of Florida track.

Despite the disqualification, LSU remained the favorite to win its fourth straight SEC track title Saturday.

Trials were held in eight events —half of those to be completed in the finals—and LSU qualified 12 men in the eight.

Florida qualified nine men, Auburn eight, Georgia Tech, Georgia and Alabama five each, Vanderbilt and Kentucky four each, Tennessee two and Mississippi State one.

In the other eight events, the field is small enough so that trials were unnecessary.

Nutting's shot put mark beat a 55 foot, 1¼ inch heave last year by Richard Crane of Auburn. Crane was third Friday, qualifying at 55 feet, one-quarter inch.

Coach Al Moreau of LSU said Fornaris probably lost his lane because he wasn't used to running a dash around a curve. The LSU track has a 220-yard straightaway.

880 (Qualified for Finals)—Ron Allen, Fla., Steve Squires, Ga., E. G. Plummer, Ky., Robert Elia, Ala., Carl Seefield, LSU, Bill Lawhins, Tenn., Kevin O'Sullivan, Miss. State. Best time :58.5 by Allen

Piersall's Hit Nips Bosox for Indians

Grant, Stigman Team To Hurl Cleveland To 2-0 Triumph

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jim Piersall's bases-loaded single in the seventh inning drove in the game's only runs and gave the Cleveland Indians a 2-0 victory over the Boston Red Sox Friday night.

Jim Grant, making his first start of the season, picked up the victory, but needed relief help from southpaw Dick Stigman.

Stigman pitched the final two innings, getting the Indians out of a jam with some spectacular hurling in the eighth.

Tiger Rally Wins, 4-3

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers pushed across three runs in the ninth inning—the winning run scoring on Walt Dropo's wild relay throw—and edged the Baltimore Orioles, 4-3, Friday night.

The Tigers went into the ninth ninning trailing 3-1 and seemed beaten as Hoyt Wilhelm was breezing along in relief of Jerry Walker.

DRUID HILLS CINDERMEN GO FOR TRACK GRAND SLAM

By PAUL ATKINSON

Druid Hills High School goes for an unprecedented grandslam in track Saturday at Birmingham, Ala.

Jimmy Carnes' unbeaten Druids, who have swept the Georgia AAA and Georgia Invitational Track events, seek now the tough Georgia-Alabama get-together.

There is talent galore on hand for the Georgian invasion. For most of the times recorded by the Alabamans in qualifying for this prep trackaganza are spectacular.

Such as the 14.8 posted by Tallasse's Doug Christian in the 120 high hurdles, and the 13-1½ pole vault by Wayne Richard of Shades Valley. The Druids' Bob Thomas and Sammy Phillips won those events here at Grady Stadium last week on marks of 12-7 and 14.9.

Phillips, in an extraordinary performance, captured three firsts last week, taking the broad jump with a leap of 21-10½, the high hurdles and the low hurdles with a time of 20.4. All three were topped by the 'Bamans.

However, the Georgians, comparatively speaking, are stronger in the field events. O'Keefe's Allen Williams flung the discus 161-2½, while Tuscaloosa's Joe Dean could manage only 143-7½. Williams also won the shot on a pitch of 55-5, and best Gadsden's Bobby Rogers could do was 52-3½.

A sizzling duel is foreseen in the 100-yard dash. North Fulton ace Hutch Johnson won it last week in 10 flat and has done 9.9. Tuscaloosa's Jimmy Holmes had a 10.1.

The meet will be contested at Legion Field Saturday.

Continental's Johnson Raps 'Outlaw Tactics,' Favors Bill

Court Fight Better Weapon To Use Against Major Teams

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Sen. Edwin C. Johnson Friday rejected the idea of launching the new Continental League as an outlaw on the fringes of major league baseball.

Johnson told reporters a court fight would be a better weapon against what he termed monopolistic efforts by the American and National Leagues to block Continental from big time organized baseball's ranks.

Johnson is a Democratic former governor of Colorado who represented the state in the Senate for many years. He is a former longtime president of the Western League, and one of Continental's founders.

He spelled out his views in an interview as the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee completed hearings on a disputed bill which, among other things, would make it a federal offense for anyone to hinder the formation of a new baseball league. It also would subject the national pastime to some new federal controls.

Johnson endorsed the bill in the hearings, at which Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick and George M. Trautman, executive head of the minor leagues, condemned it roundly.

William A. Shea, counsel to Continental, told the subcommittee Thursday the major leagues were inviting "open warfare" with his group.

Rand Dixon, subcommittee counsel, mentioned this in the hearings as a possible outlaw move, without indicating how he felt about it.

Johnson, however, said in response to questions, "I wouldn't want anything to do with an outlaw move."

Machen Rips Alex Miteff

NEW YORK (AP) — Favored Eddie Machen gave body-pounding Alex Miteff of Argentina a sound drubbing Friday night in winning a unanimous 10-round decision at Madison Square Garden.

Machen of Portland, Ore., weighed 190¾, Miteff 203.

Machen, an 11-5 favorite, was given a strenous battle for five rounds.

Big Ten Delays Indiana Case, Okays Rose Bowl for Schools

From Press Dispatches

The Big Ten Friday postponed action against Indiana on alleged recruiting violations, voted to participate in the Rose Bowl on an individual school basis, and killed a proposed ban of all post-season sports by a 10-0 vote.

Bob Allison

In a report to the joint group at Lansing, Mich., Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson in effect said that his findings into the Indiana affair were not conclusive enough at this time to cause action to be initiated.

The vote on the Rose Bowl was 5-5 and kept in effect a clause in conference regulations allowing Rose Bowl participation on an individual basis.

A majority was needed to strike it from the record. The swing vote that retained it was by Indiana. Others for it were Michigan, Iowa, Purdue and Michigan State. Opposition came from Ohio State, Wisconsin, Northwestern, Minnesota and Illinois.

BASEBALL — Calvin Griffin, owner of the Washington Senators, said he had rejected offers from the New York Yankees for four of his stars—pitchers Camilio Pascual and Pedro Ramos and outfielders Bob Allison and Jim Lemon. . . . HORSE RACING—The National Turf Writers' Assn. came to the defense of Al Kaline for his interest in horse racing. Bill Lauder Jr., New York Herald Tribune racing editor and president of the Turf Writers, said he sent telegrams to Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and Tiger president William DeWitt, supporting Kaline's activities. . . . Bagdad and Amerigo top a field of eight entered for the $50,000 added Los Angeles Handicap at Hollywood Park Saturday.

MISCELLANEOUS — Veteran race driver Gene Hartley of Indianapolis cranked his car up to mort than 143 miles an hour at the Speedway, but blew an engine and may not be ready for thethird day of qualifications Saturday. . . . Ingemar Jhansson did 5½ miles of road work while Floyd Patterson battered a new spar mate as they both prepared for the big title fight June 20.

CHALKLEY ON TOUR STUDYING STADIUMS

Carrollton sportsman Eaton Chalkley is now in Los Angeles "looking over the stadium situation" there and in other major cities, The Constitution learned Friday.

Chalkley has written Fulton County Commissioner James H. Aldredge that he is studying the stadium facilities in other major cities "in order that I might be better versed on actual facts and figures when we meet to discuss the matter."

Aldredge said Friday that he had written Chalkley asking that he meet with him and the Atlanta stadium authority to go over the problem of building a stadium in Atlanta or Fulton County.

Aldredge wrote Chalkley, who holds major league football and baseball franchises for Atlanta, in connection with his efforts to determine the feasibility of the county taking over the stadium project.

Chalkley said he plans to return to Atlanta by the end of this month and that he would contact Aldredge then.

"Please be assured of my desire to help in any way possible and that my aim is solely to bring major sports to a major community," his letter concluded.

Coosa Romps, 11-1, To Class C Crown

Espy Sends Champ to Final, Then McRay Hurls 3-Hitter

By DAVE MERRITT
Constitution Sports Writer

THOMASTON—Coosa breezed from behind for the 13th time in 18 games this year to win the Georgia High School Class C title here Friday night.

Clay County also ran, but they fell 11-1.

The Fort Gaines team scored in the bottom of the first to lead, 1-0.

After two were out, pitcher Andy Lindsey walked, took third on his brother Jeff's single and raced home as the centerfielder juggled the ball.

Clay County had had its inning in the lights. The next six it labored on the wind.

Coosa tied the score in the second, scored two in the third and snuffed out the lights for Clay with a four-run burst in the fourth.

Andy Lindsey, who escaped in the seven-inning opener against Evans, pitched well for three innings, but fell apart like a wet paper bag in the fourth.

Two singles, two walks and two more singles accounted for Coosa's four runs.

Coosa went on to score one in the fifth and sixth and a needless two in the seventh.

Don McRay limited Clay to three hits and except for the first inning, had a lark.

Shortstop Bobby Adrams exemplified the Coosa attack, going three for five including a double and triple.

Catcher Jeff Lindsey exemplified the Clay attack with a single in four trips.

In the semifinals, in the afternoon, Clay defeated Evans County, 9-7, and Coosa edged Ludowici, 4-3, in eight innings.

Wayne Epsy, a scowling, swarthy curve-baller, a la Sal Maglie, struck out 18 in the opener for Coosa.

In the nightcap, playing first base, he lurked in the wings, relishing a chance to return if McRay faltered.

McRay, of course, didn't.

This is the second straight year for Coosa in the finals, but Friday they also won.

sational youngster's league-leading total to 74 in 58 innings.

Righthander Bacque, whom the Barons have provided only three runs in four losing efforts against a win, held the Crackers scoreless for only two rounds.

Dick Tracewski's first of two singles, Richert's sacrifice on which Bob Micelotta threw the ball into centerfield, and a sacrifice fly by Gene Wallace broke the scoring ice in the third.

Williams' 380-foot leadoff homer over the leftfield fence in the fourth, his eighth of the year, made it 2-0. And Camilli's Texas League single and Le John's triple to center accounted for another run in the inning.

Camilli laced reliefer Grimsley's second pitch for a three-run triple to right to cap a four-run explosion an inning later. Bacque free-passed Wallace and Lajoie, Williams singled home a run and Harkness coaxed a walk before Grimsley's ill-timed arrival.

Kaline Removes Self, No More Part in Stable

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tiger outfielder Al Kaline scratched his name from the horse racing business Friday less than 24 hours after it was disclosed that he had an interest in a racing stable.

"No one exerted any pressure on me, but I feel that since baseball is my living and has gotten me where I am, I do not want to do anything to jeopardize my career or give the game a bad name," he told newsmen.

Baseball officials, including commissioner Ford Frick and Tiger president William De Witt, had expressed surprise at Kaline's interest in racing.

Madison's Bat Keeps City Tied With Greater Atlanta

worked the last two innings. He gave up only one hit, struck out four.

Again, there was a remarkable total of strikeouts. Greater Atlanta pitchers, Marietta's Charles Bagby, Smyrna's Kenny Cargile and Fields, sent 15 down swinging, while City Leaguers, Southwest's Don Shi, Sylvan's Tommy Chapman and St. John, erased 13 on strikes.

Northside shortstop Britt Madison was the leading hitter in the game. He socked out three hits, including a triple. On the latter, Madison stumbled just precious feet from home plate and was tagged out by catcher Joe Pennington.

Sylvan backstop Tommy Roberts also had a big night, banging a bases-loaded three-RBI double and a run-scoring single.

Northside batters went to work on Greater Atlanta Manager Marv Rackley's starter Bagby immediately. Madison, Buddy Milton and Hank Stelljes lined back-to-back singles in the first inning for a run.

Shi gave it back, however. Marist's Charlie Hill walked, took third on Smyrna's Charles Beckett's single and scored when Shi threw past third on a pickoff play.

Shi continued in trouble. Southwest DeKalb's Doug Moore singled, took third on Shi's misplay of Pennington's bounder to the mound and scored when Bagby punched a hit-and-run single through the vacated second base slot. Both Pennington and Bagby scored on Shi wild pitches.

Here came the City Leaguers in retaliation. Milton was safe on an error, and with two down, Bagby suddenly lost control. He walked Larry Rakestraw of West Fulton and Fulton's Don McNew to load 'em up and hit Brown's Charles Casey to force in a run. If that wasn't bad enough, he grooved one and Roberts whacked it 390 feet for a bases-clearing double.

Two errors and RBI singles by Roberts and Madison got in two more City League runs in the fifth and Jim Hearn's people sat on a 7-4 advantage.

But not for long. Chapman, with two down, was attacked for consecutive doubles to left center by Marist's Bill Hare and Norris. Robinson walked and Pennington beat out a hopper to second Cargile drew a free pass to force in a run.

It finally got tied, 7-7, in the seventh. Woodward and Norris walked and Robinson sacrificed, but was safe when St. John fumbled the ball. With one down, Dunlevie, one of the two sophomores in the game, smote a single to left center apparently scoring both Woodward and Norris. But on an appeal play, Norris was found guilty of avoiding third. The City Leaguers weren't that lucky in the ninth, however.

Winner of The Journal's most popular prep player was announced as North Fulton first baseman John Kilgore.

Pimlico 'Blacklists' 'Impudent Youth' Bill

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bill Hartack, tempestuous jockey who rode Venetian Way to victory in the Kentucky Derby, will get the cold shoulder from Pimlico track officials at Saturday's Preakness.

Hartack is scheduled to ride favored Venetian Way again in the Preakness.

Charles H. Johnson, director of public relations for Maryland Jockey Club, which operates Pimlico, put out a memorandum and released it to the press.

It read in part:

"I cannot in good conscience instruct you to make any effort in connection with photographs, interviews or quotes from W. Hartack inasmuch as his frequent ungentlemanly conduct makes it likely that such effort would be rewarded only with unprovoked abuse and insult.

"There is no reason for professional persons in pursuits of their duties to be so degraded by an impudent youth capable only of sitting on the back of a horse."

As far as his department is concerned, said Johnson, there would be no statements from or about the 27-year-old Hartack before or after the $150,000-added race.

ROYER'S BATTLE PLAN: JUST BE CONSISTENT

By DICK SEWELL

What's the goal of a young-man-going-places on the professional golf trail?

"To make $300 to $400 a week playing the tournaments," 23-year-old Hugh Royer said here Friday.

Hugh Royer

"I mean every week, finishing high in the money," Royer explained, while in Atlanta finishing up two weeks reserve duty at the 12th Army Corps headquarters on Ponce de Leon.

"That's consistent golf. And it takes it to stay on the tour. So many players have one good week, then hit a bad spell.

"To be a good, young player, you have to learn to play well every week of the tour (that starts in January and lasts into the fall)."

How long will it take Royer "to learn to play well?"

"I just hope I can make it in a year or two," the 1958 University of Georgia graduate said. "The tour is just as hard as I thought it would be."

A pro golfer needs to make that much money from the circuit. It costs more than $200 a week to make the tour, including expenses for travel, food, lodging and caddie fees.

Royer, who won his first professional tournament last year at Lake Charles, La. (first time a new golf pro has ever won his first tournament), will stay over in Atlanta for Monday's qualifying round for the U.S. Open.

He tees off with Lester Kelly of Druid Hills Golf Club at 9:14 at East Lake's No. 2 course.

Royer, from Columbus, winner of the Georgia State Amateur and Southern Amateur tournaments in 1958, said he didn't play well at all during the first month of the tour in California.

"But," he said, "after that my game picked up and I finished ninth in the tournament at San Antonio." That was worth $753 to Royer. He has played in some 15 tournaments this year.

Royer plans to go back on the tour around June 1.

FATHER DIDN'T KNOW BEST ABOUT YOUNG PETTY

By AL THOMY

The path to success is often an obstacle course lined with prophets of skepticism.

Al Thomy

So it is with the road Richard Petty has followed to the top in stock car racing. Twenty-two year old Richard had one strike on him to begin with, the problem of succeeding in the shadow of a father who had won practically every honor in the sport.

"He'll never be more than an average race driver," said one veteran of the track several years ago. "I don't believe he really has his heart in the game."

That was two years ago when Richard was 20. Check the NASCAR Grand National point standings. There on the very top is the name Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C. In second place, 222 points back, is father Lee Petty.

Richard has earned every point, for Lee makes him play the game that way. Father Petty's stern guidance was clearly illustrated here in 1958 when he vigorously protested the announcement that Richard had won a Lakewood race.

"Richard didn't win it; I did," said Lee. "I know because I counted the pit stops. He eats at my table and when he wins a race I want him to earn it."

A recount by judges proved father Petty knew best. He, indeed, was the winner and Richard's dream of a first place had to await another day.

RICHARD PETTY, MISS VIRGINIA HEAD SOUTH

He's for "Fire Cracker," She's for Miss Dixie Contest

That day is here. Son has surpassed father, at least for the present.

Like Lee, Richard drives a planned race. He does not barrel into the corners without regard of the next step. And both he and pop are usually around when the chargers have gone the way of all excess.

Critics have changed their minds about one Richard Petty. They now predict a long championship reign for the farmer's son from North Carolina.

MINUTE PROFILE: Bob Welborn, rest for the weary. After the Rebel 300, Welborn, who now makes Atlanta his home, announced he was retiring from racing, at least temporarily. "I'm just quitting until I get to feeling better," he said. "I just haven't felt like driving this year."

SHORT LAPS: Point-wise, Grand National drivers rate this way: Richard Petty 6,196, Lee Petty 5,974, Rex White 5,374, Ned Jarrett 4,846, Junior Johnson 4,734, Bobby Johns 4,632, Bob Welborn 4,232, Emanuel Zervakis 3,380, Buck Baker 3,368, Johnny Allen 2,920, Tom Pistone 2,776, Curtis Turner 2,736, Fred Lorenzen 2,390, Joe Weatherly 2,302. . . . Promoter Stu Nelson has offered a bonus of $100 to any driver beating the Lakewood lap record of 42.90, held by Gober Sosebee. He also announces that a starlet from the movie "Bride of Dracula" willl make a personal appearance at the June 5th Mid-Season Championship late-model race at Lakewood. USAC sprint cars will not run here July 3. Instead, Lakewood will present sprint machines of the All-American Racing Assn. . . . Red Farmer, a Miamian who made a sensational one-night stand at the Peach Bowl last year, returns for an encore Sunday night in his souped-up modified job.

The Indianapolis pole winner, Eddie Sachs, will be in Atlanta Monday for a press party and personal appearances. He and sportscaster Bill Stern will share the spotlight. Sachs, a North Carolinian who now registers out of Pennsylvania, won his first major race in Atlanta three-four years ago. He is a loquacious soul who never forces silence upon a thought. . . . Tony Bettenhausen, who will drive Lindsey Hopkins' Duece at Indy, paid Rodger Ward the supreme compliment the other night. "Ward is the greatest auto racing champion of all time," he said. "I've chased the guy for a long time and he goes awfully fast." Asked how long he intends to race, Bettenhausen answered, "Until I'm 65 and then collect social security."

Plenty of Summer Activities To Keep Younger Teens Busy

By MARCY MANNERS

DEAR MISS MANNERS:

Summer is coming and I don't have anything to do. I am 15 and my parents won't let me take a job. We will go to see my grandmother when my daddy has his vacation. The rest of the time there is nothing to do. Can you help me?

MARY.

DEAR MARY:

The public library offers you books on every subject known to man. Although you will not want to spend the entire summer reading, surely you would enjoy and profit by using some of your vacation hours in reading.

Learning something that you want to know is always fun. Improving your ability to sew might be interesting and it might also be the means of more school clothes next year. Learning to cook can be fun, too. But there are many other things to learn.

Perhaps you would like to learn to play tennis, badminton, or golf. You will have a great deal of fun improving your swimming and diving techniques.

The YWCA of Atlanta is offering special classes for teen-agers. They are set up in various neighborhoods. Classes in ballroom dancing, bridge, modeling and the modern dance are to be held in the Buckhead area. At the Tennis Center you can take tennis classes. Bowling lessons will be available at Broadview Plaza. In the La Vista area there will be classes in modern dance, modeling and beginning sewing. In the Southwest area classes in modern dance, modeling, beginner's bridge and ballet will be offered.

Registrations must be made during the week of June 6. You can get information about these classes by calling JA. 4-3416.

There will also be classes at the downtown YWCA. These include swimming, charm, slimnastics, tap dancing, speech, sewing, ballet, modeling, tennis and bridge.

There are many churches during the summer beginning with vacation Bible schools which offer teen-agers the opportunity to serve as well as learn.

The Atlanta Parks and Recreation Department has big plans for you this summer, if you are interested in fun. They are sponsoring a Summer Fun Program in all the parks. Teenage girls are needed as volunteer helpers. There will be crafts, games, hikes, nature study and story hours.

For your own fun they also provide softball and baseball for boys and girls. There will be free swimming and tennis instruction. In the 16 community centers there will be varied teen-age activities.

So, I suggest that you should be able to find plenty of fun and activity this summer. Happy holiday!

Student Wins Fashion Trip

Sandra Ann Barnwell, a 16-year-old student at Forest Park High School, has been named one of the six top winners in "Seventeen" magazine's second annual fashion council competition.

Sandra was one of the publication's 209 national fashion council members from coast-to-coast eligible to enter the competition.

As her prize, Sandra will receive an all-expense-paid trip to New York from June 1-9. While there she will appear in a fashion show preview of fall styles, act as an assistant in the publication's fashion and merchandising departments, and visit the sites of New York.

Miss Barnwell was selected on the basis of required fashfashion assignments: a plan for the ideal store fashion board; a newspaper report describing current high school "ins" and "outs;" and a suggested article, column or feature to appear in the June issue.

Teen Hops to Begin

Teen hops will be held every Wednesday night beginning May 25, at Lake Spivey.

The dances will be held from 7 p.m. until 10:30 p.m. and will be emceed by disc jockey Paul Drew of WGST.

Girls Win State YMCA Press Awards

Two teen-age girls have won first place in the press contest sponsored by the State Y.M.C.A. of Georgia. The contest is for the press delegates to the Georgia Youth Assembly.

The top winners, announced this week by the Y.M.C.A., are Diane Alford, LaGrange, daily newspaper category, and Jacque Fellows, Douglas, weekly category.

The competition was divided into two categories, one for towns having daily newspapers and one for those having weeklys. The entries in both categories were judged on the completeness of coverage, correstness of composition, accuracy of reporting, variety of articles submitted and the total volume of newspaper space secured.

Jacque Fellows

Diane Alford

Other winners in the order they were chosen are:

Daily Category — Righton Hodgkin, Waycros; Kay Smith, Albany; Janice Suggs, Dalton, and Barbara Smith, Marietta.

Weekly Category—Andrew Joe McGlammery, Statesboro; Marilyn White, Wrens; Susan Glover, Newnan.

Judges were three members of the Henry Grady School of Journalism of the University of Georgia.

Fencers Stick 'Em in the Ribs Politely

There's always a little fighting spirit in the best of us. But most of us lack a polite way of showing it.

However, there's a polite, intellectual way of "fighting" with an almost forgotten means —dueling or the old art of fencing.

Fencing is the art of offense and defense with a weapon. Dating back to the days of knights on horseback fencing has become quite popular with the teen-agers today.

Many of the high schools, particularly in the northern part of the United States, are offering fencing as part of their athletic program.

FENCING HAS CHANGED

Fencing has changed through the centuries with the different types of weapons and their development. For a time the study of fencing went hand in hand with the study of wrestling..

A fight often consisted of both swordplay and wrestling, the ultimate purpose being to disable the opponent. However, the increase of skill in the use of the sword caused wrestling to be discarded.

The science of fencing had its real inception when heavy armor was abandoned in favor of gunpowder. At that time the entire arsenal of armor-cracking and armor-piercing weapons disappeared to make way for lighter arms.

In the beginning fencing was a matter of speed, agility and to a certain extent strength. Although many girls have enthusiastically taken up the sport, men are much the better fencers.

STRENGTH REQUIRED

This is because, like every sport other than tiddly winks, strength is required. And as one cocky male said, "Boys will always be the best athletes."

Fred Shaw, fencing instructor at Emory University, says the whole foil weapon is controlled with the index finger and the thumb. The sport combines strength with relaxation.

There are several organizations around Atlanta that hold weekly fencing get togethers. A group meets on Monday night at the Jewish Community Center, Monday and Friday nights at the YMCA and Sunday nights at St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

Gyrating Star Says Rock 'n' Roll Shaking Last Leg But Teens Say No

Local teen-agers of the music-loving set believe that one certain gyrating undulating performer with long side burns is off the track on this business of rock 'n' roll.

Richard Gautier, a 190-pound hunk of man packed into skin-tight gold lame pants with guitar, sideburns and suitably rolling eyes on Broadway thinks rock 'n' roll is shaking its last leg.

Gautier is currently Conrad Birdie in the new Broadway musical, "Bye Bye Birdie," an amusing burlesque of the teen set's behavior.

RESISTANCE HERE

Gautier's statement that rock 'n' roll is starting to die out now brought resistance from teen-agers in Atlanta.

Lynn Millis, 16, said, "I think he's crazy. Rock 'n' roll is going just as strong as ever."

Steve Hogan, 17, said he thinks the distinctive rock 'n' roll beat is a good one to dance to and he believes that these repetitious tunes are a never-dying thing.

Sexier than Presley, more athletic than Avalon and fuller-voiced than Fabian, Dick Gautier's slightly overripe performance is pure satire. He's a serious musician, composer and humorist at 28, who absolutely loathes rock 'n' roll.

A wire service quotes Gautier as saying he thinks rock 'n' roll is the stupidest form of music ever created. "It's banal, and it's only appeal is sexual," he says.

"Good music is a marriage of melody with poetry," Gautier believes. "This junk (rock 'n' roll) consists of three or four chords with a dull repetition of idiot phrases. It's starting to die out now, though. Music publishers and disc jockeys are pushing less of it, getting less response from the kids," he continued.

"HE'S CRAZY"

"This isn't true—he's crazy," said one Atlanta teen-ager. Most teen-agers agreed that they like the rock 'n' roll songs that make sense.

Gautier seems to think that the music trend is swinging back to the Lawrence Welk and Sammy Kaye style, which he says he can do without too. His own compositions are the Rogers and Hart type melodies and he hopes to record an album of these compositions soon.

The father of two young children, Gautier finds nothing wrong with teen-agers expressing themselves through rock 'n' roll—while it lasts. "If kids are ready for sexual expression, this music is not so much a stimulus as a release. The whole thing, the dancing, the tempo, the shrieks, releases physical tensions, he says.

The rebelliousness of teen-agers is something he believes should be encouraged and creatively channeled, rather than squelched.

"BYE BYE BIRDIE"
Richard Gautier

A rebel himself, Gautier was expelled from high school shortly before his graduation.

For stepping outside a marked safety zone in his class metal shop, he was ordered outside in the hall by the teacher. His antics from there led to his expulsion and when the school principal later called him to come back for graduation, he refused. "I told him a diploma means nothing. I already had all that school could give me, because all that counts in life is my capacity to learn and my ability to use that knowledge," he said.

An avid reader, he has been educating himself ever since. "And I do it with joy, because I learn the things which interest me—psychology, philosophy, physiology, poetry, music."

An artist, too, Gautier has painted clowns mostly because they sold so well. Joan Bennett owns one of his clowns.

He landed a spot at San Francisco's famous off-beat night club, The Hungry i, as a method humorist. He also added a few of his paintings to the walls of The Hungry i to help support his family.

Wedding Gown's Fate May Be Trunk, or Smithsonian!

MAMIE'S WEDDING GOWN IS PRESERVED
Mrs. Eisenhower's Dress in Smithsonian Institute

By BETTY CARROLLTON

As far as the bride is concerned, the most important part of her wedding (except the groom, of course), is the dress she wears. But after the big event, what happens to the treasure?

Is it exiled to the bottom of a cedar chest, never to be worn again?

Is it carefully preserved for the daughter of the bride?

NEWEST ENTRY

The fate of some wedding gowns is the Smithsonian institute's collection of First Lady dresses. The newest entry in this popular exhibit at the U.S. National Museum is, of course, that worn by Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower. A mannekin now displays the full, floor-length creation of chantilly lace and tight-sleeved bolero jacket, offset by a wide, pale pink satin cummerbund that encircles the waist, accenting the pink baby roses combined with sprays of lilies of the valley, which made up Mrs. Eisenhower's wedding bouquet.

The wedding outfit worn by a noted Georgia bride had a more practical fate:

"I don't know just where my wedding dress is today," declared Mrs. Herman Talmadge, wife of Georgia's junior senator. "I'm sure of one thing, though—I wore it often after the wedding."

NO FORMAL WEDDING

There was no time for a formal wedding when the Ashburn beauty, then a student at the University of Georgia, became the bride of a young Navy officer 18 years ago. She was trousseau shopping in Atlanta when she received word that Ensign Herman Talmadge had been granted a three-day leave that week.

For her wedding, which took place at the Governor's Mansion where the bridegroom's father was then Georgia's head of state, Miss Shingler selected a blue two-piece suit, trimmed with a white fox fur collar. Her accessories, including a tiny veiled hat, were blue. A white corsage completed her attire.

"Herman's salary then was about $125 per month," Mrs. Talmadge recalled. "I wore my wedding outfit often."

An exquisite creation of ivory satin, "fashioned along draped lines," was first donned by Miss Sybil Elizabeth Russell on Sept. 3, 1947, for her marriage to Samuel Ernest Vandiver Jr. at the First Baptist Church in Winder. The gown featured a yoke of seed pearls, and the pretty bride's veil of illusion was attached to a coronet of seed pearls. A long train completed her picture of elegance.

WELL-WORN

It is a well-worn gown.

"I think it has a marvelous history," said Georgia's first lady. "It has been worn by three happy brides since my wedding day."

Those brides include Gov. Vandiver's niece, Mrs. Henry Read of Atlanta; Mrs. Vandiver's sister-in-law, Mrs. Richard B. Russell III of Winder, and her sister, Mrs. Jim Ingram of Pensacola, Fla.

"I hope it will be worn by at least two brides in the future," the governor's wife said: "My daughters."

When the University of Georgia's famed head football coach went to the altar, his bride met him in a Navy blue dress of pure silk, in the then-current styles of the 20s—long waist and short skirt.

MARRIED AT PARSONAGE

The couple was married at the parsonage of the First Methodist Church in Atlanta, in the presence of a few members of their families. Mr. Butts was coaching at Madison A&M then.

"We had planned to be married in June," the former Winifred Fay Taylor recalled, "but Wallace called me and persuaded me to meet him in Atlanta to be married on Feb. 19, 1929."

She wore a hat of Navy straw, with bag and shoes of blue suede. Her wedding bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

"And I remember I wore a pair of very sheer silk hose I got for Christmas!" Mrs. Butts said. "This was before nylon, you know.

"I can't remember what happened to the dress," she continued. "However, I wore it to parties quite a bit the next winter and spring in Madison."

Atlanta Civic Ballet Seeks Talent in Spring Auditions

By BARBARA BRIGHT

Four or five years of training in the arabesque and pirouette are culminated each year in the spring auditions of the Atlanta Civic Ballet.

For a few girls, the two-hour auditions will mean they are chosen to join the nation's oldest civic ballet company as replacements for those vacancies created by company members who have left Atlanta.

For others, they will be rewarded with constructive criticism and suggestions on how they may improve their ballet techniques so they may be the chosen ones the next year.

ELIGIBLE DANCERS

Girls from 13 to 35 are eligible to audition for the ballet company. Several are dancing students from towns near Atlanta who have been sent to the auditions by their dancing teachers; some are young dance instructors themselves; others are young mothers who seek to follow a professional dancing career but hesitate to leave Atlanta and their home ties.

Ballet, to the girls who audition and to the members of the company, is all important. One mother once recommended the Atlanta Civic Ballet as a cure for juvenile delinquency. When interviewed by a newsman on her comments about today's "wild youth," she said. "I have no problems with my two daughters. The Civic Ballet keeps them active and interested and takes up their free time so they don't get into trouble."

PARENT INTERVIEW

Mrs. Hildegarde Bennett, a director of the company, said that an interview is held with the chosen girls' parents to tell them how much time the ballet work requires.

"They have to realize the Civic Ballet just about has to come first in their home, before any other kind of activity," Mrs. Bennett said.

Third time was the charm for one girl who auditioned this year. When she was 12 she had asked to audition so she could benefit by the constructive critism; the next year, at 13, there were not enough vacancies for her to rate a place in the company; but now, at 14, the young dancer has achieved her ambition.

GIVEN SCHOLARSHIPS

Though girls are required to audition for the 25 places for women in the ballet company, any young men who are interested in ballet are automatically given scholarships and accepted in the company.

"There are so few men who pursue a ballet career that we can use all who are interested," Mrs. Bennett said. Many of the company members, both girls and men, are students of music and drama as well as the dance.

Mrs. Bennett predicts an increased importance for the local ballet companies throughout the country. "Many of the road companies don't want to bring their entire ballet troupe to a city for a one-night stand. When the city has a well-trained troupe of its own, the road companies can more easily afford to offer their productions for engagements of less than a week."

The ballet auditions, which were conducted this week, are attended and the girls' performances studied by all members of the company. Those selected to join the company will be announced next week, Mrs. Bennett said.

Secretaries Will Install New Officers

Installation of new officers and the initiation of new members will mark the meeting of the Atlanta Chapter of the National Secretaries Assn. at 6:30 p.m. Monday, May 23 at the Dinkler Plaza Hotel.

Mrs. Elizabeth Roper, southeastern vice-president and a candidate for international president will install the officers. They include Mrs. Laura Moody, president; Mrs. Kay Carlisle and Mrs. Sara Sneed, vice-presidents; Mrs. Catherine Jackson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Jean Marshall, recording secretary; Mrs. Kathryn Sheppard, treasurer; Mrs. Jewel Cofer, director, and Mrs. Cammie Lee Kendrick, director and retiring president.

The Atlanta chapter with its membership of 106, is a member of one of the largest organizations in the world of women in one profession.

Atlanta DAR Elects Regent

Mrs. Logan Danner Thomson is the new regent of the Atlanta chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. She was elected at the group's meeting on May 19.

Serving with Mrs. Thomson will be Mrs. LaFayette Davis, first vice regent; Mrs. Harold Brewer, second vice regent; Mrs. Thomas B. Monroe, chaplain; Mrs. W. T. McArthur, recording secretary; Miss Elise Gibbs, registrar; Mrs. Thomson Johnson, treasurer; Mrs. O. T. Ray, historian, and Mrs. R. N. Benjamin, corresponding secretary.

Lack of Real Communication Can Cause Marital Problems

By BETTY REEF
Women's News Service

NEW YORK — Lack of communication between partners is a prime sympton of a foundering marriage, said Dr. Mary S. Calderone, medical director of the Planned Parenthood Foundation of America.

"Some couples do a lot of talking without ever getting through to each other," She told me. "Each partner pursues his life, his thoughts, his interests quite unmindful of the other. They meet at mealtimes and bedtimes. But these meetings are only incidental to their real interest. Each exists for himself, in his own orbit of activity."

Such a couple may do a lot of gabbing together about things which happen to them in the office, at home, on the street, with friends. But the really deep things about which they have strong feelings—sex, failures, frustrations, evidence of unfriendliness from outsiders—are not communicated.

They think of this inability or unwillingness to tell what is truly bothering them as unselfish, she said. The husband, for example, who fears he's failing on the job won't tell about the office events which undermine him because a man is supposed to be strong and carry this worry load himself, he thinks.

Instead of being helpmeets, such a couple actually weaken the basic value of marriage: the chance to help one another.

Communicating does not mean unloading a lot of petty cares daily on your mate—like the diaper problem or the office typist's mistakes, explained Dr. Calderone.

It means sharing feelings. deep feelings of adequacy or inadequacy in human relations, feelings of anger, anxiety, distrust, hate, failure, frustration and despair, and also feelings of sweetness, happiness, success, exaltation—these are what need to be shared.

Since women are more concerned with emotions and more articulate about them, it is up to wives to set up and maintain the lines of communication, Dr. Calderone said.

These can be brief snatches during the humdrum of daily life, a few moments over the dishes, or those last few moments of pillow-talk before going to sleep. These are golden moments of communication between two people — They are building blocks of a good marriage.

Wives need to set up patterns of conversation with their husbands. "And not necessarily on subjects of mutual interest. Find an area in which your husband is interested.

"If he's the type who gets lost behind the newspaper, a smart woman will bone up one of the subjects he concentrates on, comics, sports, or business, so she can discuss with him something he enjoys. And she'll be sure to get his opinions, not just spout her own.

As for when to see a marriage counselor, a wife has to learn how to tell an "episode" from a "chronic dissension." Episodes can be solved and forgotten. Quarrels can even be fun, a storm which clears the air of smoldering resentments.

But chronic dissension is another matter, one which usually calls for outside counseling.

How to tell which is which?

'An episode is like a headache. You have one and take an aspirin. Maybe you have another in a week. But if every week, or every few days, you have headaches, you become aware that you're having too many headaches and it's time to see a doctor," explained Dr. Calderone.

Rails, Oils Gainers In Confused Mart

NEW YORK (AP)—Rails and oils continued to gain while space age defense issues fell sharply in a stock market which maintained a generally higher trend.

Contrary action of various stock groups made a confusing picture most of the session. Trading was active.

The missile-rocket-electronic stocks, which soared as the summit conference collapsed, took further losses as Soviet Premier Khrushchev removed immediate threat of German crisis pending another summit meeting six or eight months hence.

The rails continued to draw buyers because of merger news already published and expectations of more such news to come. Oils, still close to recession lows despite Thursday's advance, were bought again both as speculations and for long term investment.

The market was higher from the start and maintained an upside edge despite weakening in the afternoon because of the Khrushchev speech.

McKenney Heads State Textile Men

Special to The Constitution

HOLLYWOOD BEACH, Fla.—A Columbus, Ga., textile executive and civic leader was elected here Friday as president of the Georgia Textile Manufacturers Assn., the trade association of Georgia's largest industry.

He is Paul K. McKenney Jr., vice president and comptroller of Swift Manufacturing Co., one of the largest industrial firms of Columbus, a major U.S. textile center.

John P. Baum of Milledgeville, vice president of the woolen and worsted division of J. P. Stevens & Co., is the group's new vice president. If the traditions of the association are followed, Baum will accede to the presidency in 1961. Elected as treasurer was G. H. Smith, general manager of the Lindale Division of Pepperell Manufacturing Co., Lindale.

William D. Ellis, Southern Mills, Inc., Atlanta, is among the new directors.

Other officers elected at a meeting of the new board of directors were: T. M. Forbes, executive vice president; Frank L. Carter, secretary, and O. B. Moore Jr., director of public relations, all of Atlanta.

Police At Full Strength

The Police Department Friday for the first time in 10 years reached its authorized strength.

Chief Herbert Jenkins said 12 new men had been certified to the force, raising the total personnel to 880. Jenkins said tentative plans call for enrolling the dozen new men and 20 already on the force in a training school beginning May 30. He explained that 20 working now have not attended the school.

Of the 880 police personnel, 580 are uniform and traffic patrolmen, 100 are detectives, 100 are school patrol women and 100 are civilian employes.

A two-step pay raise the first of the year enabled the department to close the gap, he said, adding:

"Our total morale is much better and the effectiveness of the department is at a much higher level than I've ever seen it."

D. B. Morgan, 46, Insurance Firm Executive, Dies

David Bruce Morgan, 46, insurance executive with W. R. Hoyt & Co., died in a private hospital Friday.

Mr. Morgan lived at 92 Maddox Dr., NE.

He was a member of Central Presbyterian Church, Atlanta Athletic Club, Yaarab Temple of the Shrine, and Morningside Lodge No. 295, F&AM. He was a longtime resident of Atlanta and a veteran of World War II.

Funeral services will be at 3 p.m. Sunday at Spring Hill. The Rev. Fred R. Stair Jr. will officiate. Entombment will be in Westview Abbey.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. D. B. Morgan Sr., Atlanta, and a sister, Mrs. Stanley Casner, New York City.

ACL, Seaboard Plan to Ballot On Merger

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Railroad sources said Friday special meetings of stockholders may be held here in the next few months to act on a proposed merger of the Seaboard Air Line and Atlantic Coast Line railroads.

Directors of the two companies, meeting in New York Thursday, approved a plan whereby the two railroads would become merged as the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad Company.

If stockholders approve, the proposal will be submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission, where opposition may come from the Southern Railway and smaller Southern carriers.

GM To Build Small-Car Models Of Buick, Olds, Pontiac in 1961

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—General Motors announced Friday it will have small-size models of Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac for 1961. They will carry the names Special, F-85 and Tempest.

The expected announcement by GM at its annual stockholders' meeting thus put America's biggest automaker in the compact car market in all price ranges—from the cheapest Chevrolet Corvair to the top class Buick special.

A year ago, also at the stockholders' gathering, GM introduced a rear engine Corvair as its answer to the growing competition from small foreign imports and from American Motors' Rambler.

The three new compacts will have conventional front-mounted engines expected to be made of aluminum.

Sugar Futures

NEW YORK (AP)—World sugar futures were mixed.

World raws were quoted at 3.08 cents a pound f.a.s. Cuba.

Domestic futures were irregular.

The domestic raw market was quiet. Dealers estimated that about 50,000 tons of unsold raws is scheduled to arrive here during the next week. However, some quarters thought cane refiners would buy additional supplies at the last paid price of 6.05 cents a pounds delivered as warmer weather next month will increase sugar consumption.

Demand for refined was fair.

Domestic sugar futures No. 6 closed 1 lower to 1 higher. Sales 100 Contracts.

GIRL TO learn and become part of business systems field. Basic requirements: Art ability enough to makeup from photo copy and reproduction proofs; make simple layouts and designs for trademarks; check designs; draw accurate straight clean lines for forms. Vari-typer experience highly desirable, but if good typist, training on this equipment will be given by factory branch at company expense. No advertising matter or straight matter involved so person need not be full fledged commercial artist.
PROOFREADING: Able to learn to check forms for spelling, accuracy of position and other details of finished printed job.
EXPERIENCE in the field of data processing would be extremely helpful (however, if the person is adept, this can be learned by schooling and on the job training).
JOB and customer information would be kept in this department. Job will require intense training, so candidate should consider the following:
PRESENT salary would be based on immediate qualifications and apparent ability to accept and absorb training. This would be an individual office. If applicant does not like to be more or less alone with their work, but prefers big office with large group probably would not be happy.
THIS will be a long term, permanent job with good company benefits, insurance program, etc. and carry right and authority to make and enforce decisions regarding final approval of layouts and plates. Future salary limited only by person's ability to learn and produce.
